FOREWORD

At the fountain-head of the modern Indian languages, Sanskrit enjoys a pre-eminent position in this country. Even the languages belonging to the other stocks owe much for their vocabularies, idioms and other cultural nuances to Sanskrit, not to say of the languages directly derivated from Sanskrit. Modern researches towards the beginning of 19th Century have shown that languages from the western shores of Ireland to the Bay of Bengal and those of Australian and American continents, belong to the same group of linguistic families.

After the advent of independence in this country, the Indian National Congress lost no time in fulfilling its pledge to the people to give full say to the languages of the people in the polity of the nation and accordingly the political map of India was redistributed on linguistic-cum-political pattern, so that the various modern languages conld serve as the political medium of the teeming millions of this country. Simultaneously, our statesmen paid due attention to the retention and strengthening of various bonds that had linked this country linguistically and culturally. Admittedly, Sanskrit was a universally-acclaimed potent factor for national integration. A Sanskrit Commission was, accordingly, established by the Government of India in 1956, and in pursuance of its report, a regular Central Sanskrit Board was created. This was later on replaced by a broad-based Kendriya Sanskrit Parishad.

In consultation with these all-India advisory bodies, a number of schemes for the propagation and development of Sanskrit have been launched. The allocation of grant by Union Government for Sanskrit has also been gradually raised from Rs. 5 lakhs in the Second Plan period to Rs. 75 lakhs in the Third Plan and to Rs. 2.75 crores in the Fourth Plan period. We hope to raise this substantially during the Fifth Plan period.

Among the various important schemes, a brief mention may be made of the welfare scheme to provide pension to eminent Sanskrit pandits in indigent circumstances. A number of publication projects have also been launched and some rare and valuable manuscripts have seen the light of the day. Scholarship programmes to democratise the teaching of Sanskrit have also been undertaken on a progressive and large scale. This in itself was an incentive for students to take up Sanskrit in large numbers along the traditional lines. In the context of our country, it may be noted that the traditional system of Sanskrit education has continued from the hoary past till to date and a number of tols, pathashalas and vidyalayas are continuing to impart Sanskrit learning through traditional system. Increasing grants for their maintenance as well as to equip and furnish them better or to provide a neat building for them have been given during the last few years. The quantum of grant for such voluntary organisations has also shown a gradual rise.

Traditional Sanskrit education has a role in the country. This calls for the fusion of modern knowledge with the traditional system of education and though various suggestions made by earlier bodies were recommended to the States for implementation, the Union Government itself took up this work directly by running initially two Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeethas at Tirupati and Delhi and later on taking over three more vidyapeethas at Puri, Allahabad and Jammu. In due course, some more vidyapeethas, may be one in each State, may be taken over by the Union Government. At the apex of these vidyapeethas, a new autonomous organisation, called Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan, has been set up to administer and standardize the educational system of these vidyapeethas and to raise the standard of traditional Sanskrit education in general. I am glad to understand that the Sansthan has already devised its own syllabus for conducting examinations in its vidyapeethas and modern subjects and ideas have been incorporated in this syllabus along with all that was valuable in the traditional system. I would like to commend this syllabus and this system of examination to other institutions of the country also.

Sanskrit is pre-ordained to play a significant role in the shaping of the future of this country. When individual modern Indian languages are properly enshrined as official languages in different States and the Union official language also occupies its pre-eminent position, there will still be a continuity and unity in the shape of common national scientific vocabulary in the form of Sanskrit terminology which has been adopted for various modern terms. Thus, Sanskrit would continue to provide a link for the new vocabularies which will be common all over India. Futher, the cultural unity enshrined in Sanskrit has already been translated and re-energized in the various modern langauges, which would continue to draw from the rich heritage of Sanskrit. This is not a fond hope but a factual position.

This monograph incorporates the various developments in connection with the evolution and implementation of various schemes in the Ministry. Now we have a separate Sanskrit Division in the Ministry and the scope pertaining to Sanskrit is also increasing day by day. It was, therefore, necessary to present a quintessent survey of what has so far been achieved to pave the way for future development of Sanskrit education in this country. This monograph not only presents as to what has been done at the Union level, but also surveys in a separate part, the position of Sanskrit obtaining in various States in the country. Compilation of this work was entrusted to my young Education officer Shri D.D. Nautiyal, who seems to have done the job well. It is hoped that this compilation would provide useful information to everybody interested in the enrichment of Sanskrit.

DEVELOPMENT OF SANSKRIT

Sanskrit Since Independence

Sanskrit is universally acknowledged as a potent factor towards the national integration of India. Being the oldest survival of Indo-Aryan group of languages, it is a perennial source for almost all the groups of languages. More important than that is its inherent potentiality as a vehicle of Indian thought and its unbroken educational and cultural traditions. Since the attainment of independence the country as a whole was undergoing an all-round re-generation and the Government went all out to explore every avenue through which the nation could be consolidated in one well-knit, cohesive whole. The dawn of independence was seen by the nation as the beginning of a cultural renaissance in the country. And Sanskrit, being the bed-rock of Indian speech and literature and of the artistic and cultural heritage of the country, was naturally looking to the Government for its sustenance and rehabilitation.

After the attainment of Independence, the Government of India took on hand the re-organisation of education, and towards this purpose, appointed two Commissions, one relating to University Education with Dr. Sarvapalli Radhakrishnan as Chairman and the other to Secondary School Education with Dr. A. Lakshmanaswami Mudaliar as Chairman. With respect to the Official Language of the Indian Union as adopted in the Constitution (namely, Hindi, side by side with English for the present), the Government also appointed another Commission under the Chairmanship of late Bal Gangadhar Kher. In the Reports of these three Commissions, the question of Sanskrit Education and the place of Sanskrit were discussed.

The University Education Commission (December 1948— August 1919 has, in its Report, indicated what the place of Sanskrit (or Classical Language in general) should be in the scheme of General Education in Secondary Schools and Colleges. While discussing courses of study in Arts and Science, it expressed regret at the fact that the importance of the study of the classics in our languages had not been sufficiently realised. In that very context it made appraisal of the value of Sanskrit language and literature and expressed the hope that "our students will be encouraged to take up Sanskrit in their degree course". Elsewhere, it pointed out that "Sanskrit language and literature, which constitute our cultural heritage, offer many opportunities for research." It is interesting that, in connection with research in Fine Arts, the Commission specially referred to the knowledge of Vedic music to be derived from the study of Samaveda. In its observations on religious education, the University Education Commission stressed the importance of Sanskrit works, which embody the element of morality in a comprehensive sense and which thus can form the base of true spiritual training. It liked our educational institutions to be imbued with an atmosphere of simplicity and consecration which Sanskrit ideals of education as embodied in the ancient Gurukulas stood for. The University Education Commission even disscussed the claims of Sanskrit as the medium of education and accepted the fact that Sanskrit was the lingua franca of the world of learning in ancient India. The Commission also briefly indicated the facilities available in various Indian Universities for specialisation in Sanskrit and allied subjects.

The Secondary Education Commission (October 1952–June 1953), while discussing at some length the question of the study of languages in Secondary Schools, favoured the view that the study of Sanskrit should be promoted and those who wish to take it should be given every possible encouragement. It recognised the great appeal which Sanskrit possesses both from the cultural and religious points of view, and exhibited an awareness of the present deterioration and the danger of eventual extinction of its study. At another place, the Secondary Education Commission stressed the need for revising the methods of teaching the classical languages and for employing modern techniques in their study.

The Official Language Commission (June 1955-Jnne 1956) included in its Questionnaire a number of questions relating to Sanskrit and also accepted the basic importance of Sanskrit. The Report referred more than once, when speaking of regional languages, terminology and the cultural unity of India, to the great role that Sanskrit has played. The Report said, "It is hardly necessary to add that, besides the current regional languages, there is an immense amount of work which needs to be done in respect of Sanskrit, Pali, Prakrits, Apabhramsha, etc. The Sanskrit language pre-eminently and the other ancient languages in different degrees have powerfully influenced current Indian speeehes and a study of these has an obvious bearing on the study of contemporary forms of speech". In its concluding remarks, the Official Language Commission, while emphasising the role and value of Sanskrit, said: "All our languages, including what are known as the Dravidian languages, have through all the centuries habitually drafted, in a greater or less degree, to meet every new situation and requirement for the expression of a new idea or shade of meaning, upon that vast and inexhaustible treasure-house of vocabulary, phrase, idiom and concept comprised by the Sanskrit language and literature. The Ramayana and the Mahabharata, the Puranas and the Shastras, the classical poems, dramas and literary masterpieces of Sanskrit have served throughout these centuries not only as the reservoir of ideas, sentiments and parables to be drawn by all for the embellishment of their literary output, but also as benchmarks of literary excellence, as standards for social conduct, as examplars of morality, and, in short, as the repository of wit and wisdom of all the Indian peoples throughout the ages."

It was at this juncture that the Government of India appointed a Sanskrit Commission "to consider the question of the present state of Sanskrit education in all its aspects", under the Chairmanship of Dr. Suniti Kumar Chatterjee. The terms of reference of the Commission were as under:—

1. To undertake a review of the existing facilities of Sanskrit education in universities and non-university institutions and to make proposals for promoting the study of Sanskrit including research.

2. To examine the traditional system of Sanskrit education in order to find out what features from it could be usefully incorporated into the modern system.

The Commission submitted its Report on the 30th November 1957 and made a number of recommendations to the Government of India on various aspects of the development of Sanskrit education and the development of Sanskrit language and literature. The Commission also recommended that "in view of the fact that the several proposals made by this Commission for the cultivation and promotion of Sanskrit pre-supposed constant attention, co-ordination and direction from the Centre, it should take early steps to set up a Central Sanskrit Board". The Government of India accepted this recommendation and a Central Sanskrit Board was appointed in 1959 under the Chairmanship of Shri Patanjali Shastri. The Board held its first meeting on 2nd September 1959. The last meeting (i.e. the 23rd meeting) of the Board was held on the 26th August, 1968. Thereafter the Government of India appointed a Kendriya Sanskrit Parishad in the place of Central Sanskrit Board to advise it on various problems relating to the development of Sanskrit education and literature.

In consultation with the Central Sanskrit Board and later the Kendriya Sanskrit Parishad, the Government of India formulated and implemented a number of schemes for the development of Sanskrit. These include the following :—

1. Grant of financial assistance to the voluntary Sanskrit Organisations including gurukulas.
2. Modernization of Sanskrit pathashalas.
3. Provision of teaching of Sanskrit in secondary schools.
4. Production of Sanskrit literature, including reprinting of important out-of-print Sanskrit books, purchase and publication of rare manuscripts; publication of catalogues of Sanskrit manuscripts, purchase of copies of Sanskrit publications and financial assistance to Sanskrit journals.
5. Award of research scholarships to the products of traditional Sanskrit pathashalas, award of national scholarships to the Shastri and Acharya students, scholarships to the students for post-matric study of Sanskrit and scholarships to the students of high or higher secondary schools.

6. Establishment of the Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan and its constituent Vidyapeethas.
7. Holding of All-India Sanskrit Elocution Contests, Antyakshari and Samasyapurti competitions, Vedic Conventions, seminars and conferences and refresher courses.
8. Fixing the equivalence of Sanskrit examinations vis-a-vis the examinations in the general educational set-up and giving recognition to these examinations.
9. Grant of financial assistance to eminent Sanskrit Pandits who are in indigent circumstances.
10. Re-organisation of the traditional pathashala system of Sanskrit education.

Details of all these schemes and the expenditure incurred by the Government of India on implementing them are given in the following pages under the respective headings.

The Central Sanskrit Board

As Sanskrit is an all-India subject, the Sanskrit Commission had recommended that a Central Sanskrit Board should be set up to co-ordinate and direct the various schemes operated by the Central and State Governments for the cultivation and promotion of Sanskrit. It was also intended that the Central Sanskrit Board should give constant attention to the several proposals made by the Sanskrit Commission for the development of Sanskrit. The Commission suggested that the Board should not be a mere co-ordinating and advisory body but should be constituted on the lines of the University Grants Commission with statutory authority and financial provisions for helping Sanskrit studies.

The Government of India appointed the Central Sanskrit Board in 1959 under the chairmanship of Shri Patanjali Shastri. Other members of the Board included Shri J.H. Dave, Shri R.N. Dandekar, Prof. Vishwabandhu, Dr. S. Bhattacharya, Dr. V. Raghavan and the Vice-Chancellors of the Varanaseya Sanskrit Vishva vidyalaya and Kameshwar Singh Darbhanga Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya.

The Board was to advise the Government of India on the following matters :—

i) On matters of policies partaining to the propagation and development of Sanskrit in the country ;

ii) The pattern of Sanskrit education at different levels, co-ordination of courses, standards of syllabi, examinations and degrees, training arrangements for Sanskrit teachers ;

iii) Methods to be adopted for the improvement and development of the pathashala system of education and the privately organised research institutions ;

iv) Award of research scholarships and stipends to the students of the pathashalas, adding such departments to higher pathashalas ;

v) methods to be adopted for preparation and publication of improved Sanskrit textbooks ;

vi) recommendation on the State honours and awards to Sanskrit Pandits ; and

vii) grants-in-aid for the development and propagation of Sanskrit.

The tenure of the Board was 3 years, and the Board was thereafter re-constituted for subsequent periods of 3 years each until its last meeting. The first meeting of the Board was held on the 2nd September 1959 and in all the Board held 24 meetings, the last meeting being held in December, 1968.

In terms of the powers granted to the Board for setting up necessary committees for proper discharge of its functions, the Board appointed the following four committees to advise it on various matters : (I) The publication committee advised the Board on all matters pertaining to production of Sanskrit literature including purchase of Sanskrit books, financial assistance to Sanskrit journals and reprinting of important out-of-print Sanskrit books. (2) The manuscripts committee helped the Board in finalising cases of grant of financial assistance for bringing out critical editions of rare manuscripts and catalogues of Sanskrit manuscripts. (3) The scholarships and indigent scholars committee scrutinized details of the applicants for award of rcseasch scholarships and particulars of Sanskrit pandits under the scheme of grant of financial assistance to eminent Sanskrit pandits in indigent circumstances. (4) Lastly, the Grants Committee advised the Board on the amount of grant to be paid to each voluntary Sanskrit organisation including Sanskrit gurukulas. The last meeting of the Grants Committee was held in January, 1969.

It would not be here out of place to make a special mention of the valuable services rendered by the Central Sanskrit Board to the cause of Sanskrit as an advisory body to the Ministry of Education. There was never a single occasion when the Ministry of Education differed with the Central Sanskrit Board on any issue major or minor. The Government of India have gratefully utilised the services of the Board as well as the advice rendered by it for the promotion of Sanskrit during all these years since the inception of the Board. The services especially of Shri Patanjali Shastri, ex-Chief Justice of India, Mahamahopadhyaya, Datto Vaman Potdar, Dr. Karan Sing hand Dr. C. D. Deshmukh who graced the Board as its consecutive Chairmen, deserve grateful acknowledgment.

Kendriya Sanskrit Parishad

As already mentioned in the last chapter, the Central Sanskrit Board, the Board was functioning as an advisory body to the Ministry of Education and Social Welfare in regard to all schemes for development and propagation of Sanskrit implemented by the Government of India. The Board held its last i.e. the 24th meeting in December, 1968. As the Government of India felt that the development and propagation of Sanskrit needed better cooperation from the various State Governments as well as coordination of activities of the Centre, the State Governments and the universities, it was decided that a high power body, consisting of representatives from the State Governments, concerned Ministries and Universities, should be appointed to advise the Government of India on various matters pertaining to Sanskrit. The Central budget for Sanskrit also rose from Rs. 75.00 lakhs during the Third Five Year Plan to Rs. 2.75 crores during the Fourth Five Year Plan. The Government of India, therefore, constituted a Kendriya Sanskrit Parishad with effect from Ist January, 1970 in place of the erstwhile Central Sanskrit Board. The Parishad functions under the chairmanship of the Education Minister. Following are its Members : Education Ministers of all States, four members of Lok Sabha, two Members of the Rajya Sabha, Vice-Chancellors of Sanskrit universities, a representative each of the Ministry of Finance and Ministry of Information & Broadcasting, Chairman, Universiy Grants Commission, five representatives. of the leading voluntary Sanskrit organisations including gurukulas, five eminent Sanskrit scholars, Chairmen of the governing bodies of the Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeethas, Director, Central Institute of Indian Languages, Chairman, Commission for Scientific and Technical Terminology, Joint Secretary or Joint Educational Adviser (Languages) and Internal Financial Adviser of the Ministry of Education and Social welfare. The Deputy Educational Adviser (Sanskrit) acts as the Secretary of the Parishad. A Vice-Chairman is also nominated by the Chairman of the Parishad.

The functions of the Parishad are to advise the Government of India on matters of policy pertaining to the propagation and development of Sanskrit in the country, including the following :—

i) patterns of Sanskrit education at different levels, coordination of courses, teaching and similar activities, standardisation of syllabuses, examinations and degrees, qualifications of different types of teachers and their training arrangements;

ii) methods to be adopted for the improvement and development of pathashala system of education and privately organised research institutions;

iii) the question of adding research departments to higher pathashalas and awarding research scholarships and stipends to the students of pathashalas;

iv) the methods to be adopted for the preparation and publication of improved Sanskrit textbooks;

v) the State Honours and Awards for pandits and to recommend names of eminent Sanskrit scholars for such Honours and Awards;

vi) matters referred to the Parishad relating to grants-in-aid for the development and propagation of Sanskrit; and

vii) coordination of the work relating to Sanskrit studies, which is being done by different institutions all over the country.

The inaugural meeting and the first meeting of the Kendriya Sanskrit Parishad were held on the 4th and the 5th May, 1971 respectively in Delhi. In the first meeting the need for closer cooperation between the Centre and the State Governments in the propagtion and development of Sanskrit was highlighted by the then Education minister. Prof. V.K. R. V. Rao. The Parished also stressed upon the need to bring about a substantial improvement in the status and pay-scales of Sanskrit teachers. Representatives from various State Governments and important Sanskrit organisations also made several-suggestions for the development of Sanskrit. The Parishad invited the attention of the State Governments to the place of three-language fomula as suggested by the erstwhile Central Sankrit Board and stressed the urgency of initiating an active movement for popularising Sanskrit. It also approved the proposal to establish three more Sanskrit Vidyapeethas at Allahabad, Jammu and Puri.

The parishad has appointed a Karyakarini Samiti, an Anudana Samiti(Grants Committee) and a Visheshajna Samiti (Experts Committee) for processing different items partaining to development of Sanskrit. The Visheshajna Samiti has so far held four meetings in July, 1970, September, 1970, December, 1970 and August, 1971. The Karyakarini also met in September, 1970 and in December, 1970.

Financial Assistance to Voluntary Sanskrit Organisations

When the Sanskrit Commission visited various States and inspected the various voluntary Sanskrit organisations imparting education to the students on traditional lines, it found that due to loss of State patronage which formerly the princely States bestowed on them in plenty, the number of voluntary Sanskrit organisations in the country was fast dwindling. The Commission accordingly recommended that the Government of India should offer generous help to these traditional Sanskrit institutions serving the cause of Sanskrit. The Central Sanskrit Board also recommended that a scheme of grant of financial assistance to Voluntary Sanskrit Organisations should be formulated and implemented in the interest of promotion of Sanskrit. Under this scheme financial assistance may be given to the organisations/institutions/individuals to continue and/or to expand their activities or break fresh grounds in the field of propagation and development of Sanskrit. Such activities may relate to any one or more of the following purposes :—

(a) To set up new institutions/pathashalas and/or to maintain/develop institutions/pathashalas;

(b) Running Sanskrit teaching classes;

(c) Training and appointing Sanskrit pracharkas;

(d) Setting up, running or strengthening of Sanskrit libraries and reading rooms;

(e) Purchase of propaganda equipment for propagating Sanskrit;

(f) Organising lectures of prominent Sanskrit scholars, Sanskrit elocution contests, Sanskrit debates, Sanskrit dramas etc.;

(g) Preparing bilingual dictionaries with Sanskrit as one of the languages;

(h) Preparation and publication of Sanskrit manuscripts;

(i) Preparation, publication and maintaining the standard and improvement in contents and quality of Sanskrit journals and magazines;

(j) Institution of prizes for students studying Sanskrit;

(k) Construction of building, repairs of building or expansion of building;

(i) Organising approved Sanskrit Conventions;

(m) Research in Sanskrit; and

(n) Any other activity which may be found conducive to the enrichment, propagation and development of Sanskrit.

The Central Government's assistance for an approved scheme is now subject to a maximum of 75% of the total expenditure involved in its implementation. In the case of building projects, however, the grant is limited to 75% of the approved expenditure or Rs. 50,000, whichever is less.

Applications under this scheme are to be routed through the State Governments concerend. The State Governments are expected to satisfy themselves about the banafides of the organisations and the usefulness and necessity of the work for which grant is requested. The financial assistance granted by the Central Government has no relation whatsoever to the grant being given or to be given dy the State Governments to any particular institution

That the efforts of the Governmet of India in helping the institutions were aptly rewarded is evident from the fact that while in 1958-59, the number of voluntary Sanskrit organisations, given grant for maintenance or other purposes was only 5, during 1970-71 there were more than 500 institutions including gurukulas which received the Central grants for various purposes. The exdenditure correspondingly increased from Rs, 1.65 lakhs during 1958-59 to Rs. 18.42 lakhs during 1970-71, The number of institutions receiving grants does not include such other institutions whose requests for financial assistance from the Government of India were rejeeted in consultation with the Central Sanskrit Board/Kendriya Sanskrit Parishad. Only the institutions situated in the Andhra Pradesh, Maharashtra, Mysore, Uttar Pradesh and Delhi applied for Central grants during 1958-59. During 1959-60 and 1960-61, the number of institution receiving Central grants was 11 and 44 respectively.

As compared to 1958-59, when only one Institution each from the Andhra Pradesh, Maharashtra, Mysore and Uttar Pradesh States and the Delhi Union Territory was given maintenance and other grants under this scheme, the number of organisations given grants during 1970-71 according to the States was as follows:- Andhra Pradesh 15, Bihar 11, Delhi 10, Goa, Daman and Diu 1, Maharahstra 16, Madhya Pradesh 1, Jammu & Kashmir 1, Gujarat 9, Haryana 13, Kerala 9, Mysore 72, Rajasthan 50, Punjab 3, Chandigarh 1, Orissa 7, Tamilnadu 33, Uttar Pradesh 65, and West Bengal 211. This number does not iuclude Sanskrit gurukulas.

Expenditure on the maintenance grants to the voluntary Sanskrit organisations as well as to the Sanskrit gurukulas is met from the Plan Scheme of Grant to Voluntary Sanskrit Organisations including Development of gurukulas. In the Third Five Year Plan period, the total expenditure on the voluntary Sanskrit organisations including gurukulas was Rs.29. 50 lakhs. The distribution of this expenditure during different years was Rs. 5.16 lakhs (1961-62), Rs. 4.78 lakhs (1962-63) Rs. 5.54 lakhs (1963-64), Rs. 4.02 lakhs (1964-65) and Rs. 7.77 lakhs (1965-66). During the interim period i.e. from 1966-67 to 68-69, the total exdenditure on the voluntary Sanskrit organisations and the gurukulas was Rs. 28.66 lakhs. The budget estimates and expenditure of Rs. 8.00 lakhs and Rs.8.66 lakhs respectively during 1966-67 rose to Rs. 9.00 lakhs and Rs. 12.00 lakhs respectively during 1968-69. In 1967-68, the budget estimates and expenditure were Rs. 8.00 lakhs. During the Fourth Five Year Plan, an outlay of Rs. 85.00 lakhs has been provided in the budgetary allocation. Against this, the budget estimates and expenditure during the years 1969-70 and 1970-71 were Rs. 13.00 lakhs and Rs. 19.25 lakhs for the first year and Rs. 19.00 lakhs and Rs. 18.42 lakhs respectively during 1970-71. The budget estimates for 1971-72, 1972-73 and 1973-74 are Rs. 16.80 lakhs, Rs. 15.75 lakhs and Rs. 15.79 lakhs respectively.

The expenditure mentioned above as well as the number of voluntary Sanskrit organisations and Sanskrit gurukulas given above does not include expenditure on the various publication projects of these organisations. This has been separately dealt with under the heading 'Financial assistance for production of Sanskrit literature'. Similarly, the account given above does not show the number of organisations applying only for publication project as different from the requests for maintenance grants, as these are also being dealt with under the separate heading mentioned above.

Development of Sanskrit Gurukulas

The nature of the gurukulas as they have developed during the last centuries is that of modern public schools as far as the all-round development of the personality and character of the students is concerned. Moreover, these gurukulas offer a deep study of Sanskrit which is not possible for the modern colleges and universities to undertake in view of the fact that the student of these modern institutions has to read several modern subjects besides Sanskrit. As compared to the students of pathashalas, he necessarily devotes fewer years to the cultivation of Sanskrit. College-education enlarges the vision of the students but it sometimes makes them miss a study in depth. The Sanskrit Commission was, therefore, of the view that Sanskrit teaching in the universities and colleges cannot be expected to take the place of the pathashalas at least in their present form. The Commission, therefore, recommended that the traditional pathashala system of Sanskrit education and higher studies should be continued and recognised as an accepted form of education like any type of school and college education.

The recommendation of the Sankrit Commission was considered by the Government of India in consultation with the Central Sanskrit Board. Accordingly, a scheme for grant of financial assistance for the development of gurukulas was formulated. Under this scheme, those sanskrit institutions are regarded as gurukulas which are predominantly residential in character, engaged in the teaching of Sanskrit and are working in rural environments laying special emphasis on the ancient way of life. The Government of India thus recognised the following 11 Sanskrit institutions as gurukulas in consultation with and on the recommendation of the Central Sanskrit Board :—

1. Gurukul Kangari Vishwavidyalaya, Hardwar
2. Gurukul Vishwavidyalaya, Vrindavan, Mathura.
3. Rishikul Vidyapeetha Brahmacharyashrama, Hardwar.
4. Gurukul Mahavidyalaya, Jwalapur.
5. Kanya Gurukul Mahavidyalaya, Dehradun.
6. Shree Siddhaganga Gurukul, Tumkur, Mysore.
7. Gurukul Mahavidyalaya, Mehian, Chapra.
8. Gurukul Chittor, Rajasthan.
9. Arya Kanya Mahavidyalaya, Baroda.
10. Shri Rajagopal Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, Ayodhya.
11. Gurukul Vidyapeetha, Bhainswal Kalan, Rohtak.

As is apparent, the number of Sanskrit gurukulas running on the lines mentioned above is far too large. The Government of India have been receiving a number of applications from Sanskrit institutions for being recognised as gurukulas and for receiving financial assistance under the scheme of development of gurukulas. The Government of India therefore requested all State Governments and Union Territories to furnish particulars of such Sanskrit institutions in order to determine their eligibility for recognition as gurukulas. The institutions whose particulars were sent by these authorities were thereafter inspected by a team of officers of the Ministry of Education and Social Welfare, including a representative of the State Government concerned and a Sanskrit scholar. The following institutions were thereafter recognised as gurukulas :—

1. Munikulashram Vedic Chatuspathi, Gauhati
2. Sri Vidya Dharma Pracharak Sanskrit Hindi Mahavidyalaya, Sangrur, Patiala
3. Gurukul Matindoo, Haryana
4. Dayanand Sansthana Gurukul, Singhpura.
5. Shri Purnaprajna Vidyapeeth, Bangalore.
6. Shri Madhav Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, Govardhan.
7. Shri Rangalakshmi Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, Vrindavan.
8. Kanya Gurukul Mahavidyalaya, Sasni, Hathras.

9. Kanya Gurukul, Narela, Delhi.
10. Shri Ramarishi Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya Karala, Delhi.
11. Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya Arsha Gurukul, Tateshvar.
12. Shri Nishshulk Gurukul Mahavidyalaya, Ayodhya.
13. Gurukul Jhajjar, Rohtak.

The Central Sanskrit Board also set up a sub-committee for going into the details of recognition of gurukulas and other connected problems. It was also decided that only such of the institutions which had more than 50% students living in the hostels could be recognised as gurukulas. The matter was further considered in consultation with the Kendriya Sanskrit Parishad and it was decided that it would not be appropriate to recognise more institutions as gurukulas till a study team is appointed to study and review the working of gurukulas and report on the academic administration and financial aspects of the gurukul type of education.

Financial assistance to the Sanskrit gurukulas is paid from the amount allotted to be given as 'grants to voluntary Sanskrit organisations including the gurukulas'. In addition to the maintenance grants the institutions recognised as gurukulas are olso given (with effect from 1963-64) grants for award of stipends to 50% of the residential students at the rate of Rs. 30.00 p.m. per student. The total expenditure on gurukulas during the Third Five Year Plan was Rs. 6.47 lakhs. The year-wise expenditure during 1961-62, 1962-63 and 1963-64 was Rs. 1.00 lakhs, Rs. 1.78 lakhs and Rs. 1.46 lakhs respectively. Compared to this, the total expenditure on voluntary organisations including gurukulas was Rs. 29.50 lakhs during the Third Five Year Plan. During the period from 1966-67 to 1968-69 the total expenditure on the development of Sanskrit gurukulas was Rs. 11.12 lakhs as compared to the expenditure of Rs. 28.66 lakhs on all voluntary Sanskrit organisations including gurukulas. The year-wise expenditure on the gurukulas was Rs. 3.67 lakhs during 1966-67, Rs. 3.85 lakhs during 1967-68 and Rs. 3.60 lakhs during 1968-69. The amount of grants paid to gurukulas for award of stipends to the students during these three years was Rs. 2.70 lakhs, Rs. 3.22 lakhs and Rs. 2.97 lakhs respectively. As compared to this, the grants paid to them for maintenance and other items was Rs. 0.96 lakh, Rs. 0.63 lakh and Rs. 0.63 lakh respectively.

During the Fourth Five Year Plan period an outlay of Rs. 85.00 lakhs has been proposed for financial assistance to voluntary Sanshrit organisations including gurukulas. During 1969-70 an amount of Rs. 5.44 lakhs was spent on the development of gurukulas as compared to the total expenditore of Rs. 19.25 lakhs on all voluntary Sanskrit organisations including gurukulas. The corresponding figures for the 1970-71 are Rs. 4.57 lakhs and Rs. 18.42 lakhs respectively. The budget estimates for the year 1971-72, 1972-73 and 1973-74 for financial assistance to all voluntary Sanskrit organisations including gurukulas are Rs. 16.80 lakhs, Rs. 15.75 lakhs and Rs. 15.79 lakhs respectively.

The Rastriya Sanskrit Sansthan

The Sanskrit Commission had in its report emphasised that consequent to the formation of linguistic States, which resulted in Sanskrit becoming a stateless subject, the development of these regional languages has become the exclusive concern of the respective State Governments and the propagation and development of Sanskrit should be the special responsibility of the Centre in the interest of preserving a national heritage. The Ministry of Education, therefore, took upon itself the task of developing and propagating Sanskrit with a view to harmonizing its potentialities to the modern needs and aspirations of a free nation. In 1962 the Government of India established the Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha at Tirupati for conducting research in specialised branches of Sanskrit. This institute for the first time began imparting instructions in Sanskrit on modern subjects like educational psychology and history of education. The success met with in this experiment prompted the Government to set up another Central institute in the capital, viz., Shri Lal Bahadur Shastri Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha. This Vidyapeetha was expected to work as a centre of traditional type of Sanskrit education in Delhi to impart instructions leading to the Shastri, Acharya and Vidya Varidhi degrees of the Varanaseya Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya asalso impart training in the methods of teaching Sanskrit leading to Shiksha Shastri degree. The Vidyapeetha brought out useful Sanskrit publications and started some ambitious research projects. As these two Central Sanskrit institutes had tremendous impact on the inspiration of Sanskrit scholarship in the country, it was favoured to take over three more important institutions at Allahabad, Jammu and Puri to be run as Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeethas.

For the administration and co-ordination of the activities of all these Sanskrit Vidyapeethas, it was necessary to have an effective administrative machinery. The proposal to set up an autonomous administrative machinery for the purpose was recommended by the Kendriya Sanskrit Parishad in its meeting held in May, 1970. The Parishad recommended that there should be a joint administrative machinery by which all the Central institutes, including those already working could have co-ordination specially in their academic work, so that it would facilitate the interchangeability and migration of the staff, students and scholars and lead to division of work among the institutes in specialised fields. While recommending that the Sanskrit Vidyapeethas at Puri, Allahabad and Jummu should be taken over by the Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan, the Parishad further recommended that efforts may also be made to establish some more Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeethas in future also so that all states are gradually covered.

The Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan, accordingly, came into being on the 15th of October, 1970. The main objects of the Sansthan are, inter alia, as follows:—

i) To undertake, aid, promote, coordinate research in all branches of Sanskrit learning including teachers training and manuscriptology and to bring outp ublications;

ii) To establish, take over and administer Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeethas in the various parts of the country and to associate with any other institutions with similar objectives;

iii) To prepare, introduce, supervise and amend the curricula, syllabi and research programmes of the Sanskrit vidyapeethas established and maintained by the sansthan and to conduct examinations and confer Certificates, Diplomas, distinction etc.

iv) To serve as a central administrative machinery for the management of all the Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeethas established or taken over by the Government and to provide effective co-ordination in their acadmic work in order to facilitate the inter-changeability and migration of staff, students and research scholars and rational division of work among toe vidyapeethas in specialised fields;

As already mentioned above, the Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan has set up/taken over the following kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeethas:—

i) Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha, Tirupati, ii) Shri Lal Bahadur Shastri Kendriya Sanskrit Vidhyap-eetha, Delhi.

iii) Shri Ranbir Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha, Jammu.

iv) Shri Sadashiva Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha, Puri.

v) Ganganath Jha Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha, Allahabad.

The names of the members of the general body of the Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan are shown in the Appendix 4.

A plan provision of Rs. 73.70 lakhs has been aproved for the fourth plan period for the Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan, inclusive of all the expenditure on the vidyapeethas at Delhi and Tirupati. The year-wise requirments of funds for the year-1971-72 and 1972-73 are Rs. 1.82 lakhs and Rs. 3.58 lakhs respectively.

Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha, Tirupati

The Kendriya Sanskrit Vidhyapeetha, Tirupati was established on the 13th August, 1962 in consultation with the the Central Sanskrit Board on the lines recommended by the Sanskrit Commission. The Commission had suggested that special steps should be taken up to investigate into the methods of teaching Sanskrit to different categories of students; that Sanskrit pedagogy should be recognised as a special subject; and that courses should be organised in teachers training colleges for imparting training to Sanskrit teachers of both the graduate and the pandit types in methods of Sanskrit teaching. This recommendation of the Commission was considered by the Central Sanskrit Board in its very first meeting held in September, 1959 where it was recommended that it was desirable to have some Institute for training Sanskrit teachers and for research in evolving methods of teaching Sanskrit. The Central Sanskrit Board accordingly recommended that a Central Sanskrit Institute should be set up for the purpose. In 1960, at the request of the authorities of the Tirumalai-Tirupati Devasthanam and the Minister of Religious Endowment and Cooperation of the Government of Andhra Pradesh, the Chairman and some members of the Central Sanskrit Board visited Tirupati on the 23rd November, 1960 to ascertain the details, nature and extent of the facilities which the Devasthanam and the Government of Andhra Pradesh were prepared to offer and to inspect the site and the building which they proposed to make available to the Central Sanskrit Institute if it were located at Tirupati. The report of the Committee was considered by the Central Sanskrit Board at its fourth meeting held in November, 1960 and the Board again constituted a Committee to formulate the outlines of a tentative scheme of the proposed Central Sanskrit Institute. The report of this committee was considered in its fifth meeting held in January, 1961 where the outline of the Scheme for the proposed Institute was discussed and approved.

The Vidyapeetha, registered on the 7th October, 1961 began functioning in August, 1962 when the Director assumed the charge and subsequently a Reader, a Librarian and two members ef the office were appointed. The Padagogy Wing was started in December, 1962 and the Research and Publication Wing came into existence in January, 1964. The Vidyapeetha is working on (publication of) the Agama Kosha Project which is progressing satisfactorily. The first publication of the Vidyapeetha, i. e. Samavidhana Brahmana was released in 1964 and nine publications were brought out in 1968.

As recommended by the Board, the Vidyapeetha started its work with the opening of Padagogy and Training wings. To start with, it was decided to provide facilities for imparting instruction in Shiksha Shastri course (equivalent to B. Ed.) with Sanskrit as the medium of instruction. The diploma awarded by the Vidyapeetha has been recognised as equivalent to B Ed. for the purpose of employment of Sanskrit teachers by various State Governments including the Ministry of Education & Social welfare, Government of India. Facilities are available in the Vidyapeetha for Indological research in the Shastras, e.g., Nyaya, Vyakarana, etc. The Vidyapeeth has also a full-fledged library containing over 17,000 books and 3,000 manuscripts. In addition to the Shiksha Shastri course, education is also being imparted in the Vidyapeetha, for Pre-Shastri and Shastri courses.

During the Third Five year Plan, an amount of Rs. 6.54 lakhs was granted to the Vidyapeetha for organising various activities including maintenance The expenditure ranged from Rs. 0.03 lakh during 1961-62 to Rs. 2.40 lakhs during 1965-66. The yearwise expenditure during 1962-63, 1963-64 and 1964-65 were Rs. 0.64 lakhs, Rs. 1.47 lakhs and Rs. 2.00 lakhs respectively. During the years 1966-67 to 1968-69 grants totalling Rs. 3.50 lakhs were given to the Vidyapeetha, in addition to Rs. 5.24 lakhs for building and Rs. 10.54 lakhs under the Non-Plan Schemes. The yearwise expenditure was Rs. 2.50 lakhs during 1966-67, excluding the Non-Plan grant of Rs. 1.50 lakhs and Rs. 1.00 lakhs during 1966-67 plus an amount of Rs.5.10 lakhs under the Non-Plan Schemes. During 1968-69, a Non-Plan expenditure of Rs. 6.38 lakhs was incurred (including Rs. 2.44 lakhs as building grant) against the budget estimates of Rs. 8.80 lakhs. During the Fourth Five Year Plan, an amount of Rs. 15.00 lakhs has been proposed as the outlay for the Vidyapeetha under the Plan Schemes. Against this, expenditure during 1970-71 was Rs. 0. 50 lakhs against the budget estimates of Rs. 2.00 lakhs. The budget estimates for 1971-72, 1972-73 and 1973-74 are Rs. 4.00 lakhs, Rs. 4.50 lakhs and Rs. 4.50 lakhs respectively. Under the Non-Plan Schemes, the total grants given to the Vidyapeetha during 1960-70 and 1070-71 were Rs. 3.50 lakhs and Rs. 3.70 lakhs respectively against the same budget estimates.

Although the Vidyapeetha was established in 1962-63, it has so far no building of its own. A building programme of Rs. 19.00 lakhs has been aproved for the constructiou of the office building (Rs. 14.29 lakhs) and hostel (Rs. 3.35 lakhs). Against the plan allocation of Rs. 15.00 lakhs approved for the Vidyapeetha, a sum of Rs. 7.00 lakhs is earmarked towards the construction of the building, and the rest will be utilised for the various development projects of the Vidyapeetha. The construction of the building will be carried out mainly out of the donation of Rs. 10.00 lakhs received from the T. T. Devasthanam,

The year-wise requirement of funds for the Vidyapeetha for 1971-72 and 1972-73 will be Rs. 3.00 lakhs and Rs. 6.50 lakhs respectively.

Shri Lal Bahadur Shastri Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha, Delhi

The Lal Bahadur Shastri Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha came into being on the 1st April 1967 when the erstwhile Akhil Bharatiya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha was taken over by the Government of India and was renamed in order to commemorate the memories of Late Shri Lal Bahadur Shastri, who was a great devotee of Sanskrit. The Vidyapeetha was originally established in 1962 with a view to fulfilling the need of an International Sanskrit Institute at Delhi. During 1967-68, a sum of Rs. 4.00 lakhs transferred from the area demand of Delhi was made available to the Vidyapeetha. The Vidyapeetha has Research Centre, a Training College and a Post-graduate College. In 1971, 44 research students were working on subjects like Veda, Purana, Indian Philosophy, Astronomy, Poetics, Grammar and Sanskrit Literature. Two Research students of the Vidyapeetha have been awarded Vidya-Varidhi (equivalent to Ph.D.) degree by the Varanaseya Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya. Two more students will be awarded this degree in 1971-72.

In the Post-graduate Department of the Institute, there is a provision for teaching of Veda, Indian Philosophy, Literature, Jyotisha, Dharmashastra and Purana. With a view to enriching the teaching of Sanskrit by adopting modern subjects in the syllabi, the Vidyapeetha has also arranged for imparting instruction in subjects like Comparative Linguistics, Psychology, Sociology, History, Political Science, English, Hindi, Art and Physical Education. 44 students were studying for the Acharya course and 67 for the Shastri course during 1971.

In the Training College, the students are prepared for Shiksha Shastri (equivalent to B.Ed.) course for training them as qualified Sanskrit teachers. In 1971, 113 student-teachers were receiving training at the Training College. The syllabi for the Shiksha Shastri include besides Educational Psychology, Educational Philosophy, School Management and Physiology, training in 50 experimental lessons per student teacher. Essentials of arts and crafts, scouting, first did and physical training are also made known to the student trainees. The total expenditure on the Vidyapeetha during the interim years, i.e. from 1967-68 and 1968-69, was Rs. 8.09 lakhs, the yearwise expenditure being Rs. 4.15 lakhs during 1967-68 and Rs. 4.75 lakhs during 1968-69. An outlay of Rs. 25.00 lakhs has been proposed for the Vidyapeetha during the Fourth Five Year Plan period as Plan expenditure. During 1969-70 and 1970-71, the Plan expenditure of the Vidyapeetha was Rs. 5.05 lakhs and Rs. 2.10 lakhs respectively. In 1970-71, the Vidyapeetha also received a Non-Plan grant of Rs. 4.00 lakhs. The Vidyapeetha is affiliated to the Varanaseya Sanskrit Vishva-Vidyalaya in the matter of awards of degrees, etc. However, the Vidyapeetha is now taking a special syllabus adopted by the Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan as recommended by the Kendriya Sanskrit Parishad.

The Vidyapeetha Library has a collectson of about 600 rare manuscripts and about 6000 books.

The Vidyapeetha has brought out the following books :—

1. Vedic Vijnana (Sanskrit and Hindl)
2. Sanskriti Parichaya
3. Prameya Parijata
4. Purana Parijata
5. Chalukya Rajyanam Vamshacharitam
6. Kashmiretihasa
7. Adhwar-Mimansa-Kutuhala Vritti, Parts I & II
8. Panini, Katyayana and Patanjali
9. Geeti Kadambari
10. Panchamritam
11. Pramana Pramoda
12. Nitya Karma Prakasha

Two publications, viz., Rigveda Kavivimarsha and Sanskrit Kavya Men Ritu, are under print.

Ganganath Jha Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha, Allahabad

The Ganganath Jha Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha, Allahabad (formerly Ganganath Jha Research Institute), was taken over with the object that it would work as a representative manuscripts library confining itself to bringing out critical editions of rare manuscripts, acquisition of rare manuscripts and bringing out reprints and translations of the works of late Dr. Ganganath Jha as also serve as one of the leading Sanskrit research institutes.

The Ganganath Jha Research Institute was founded in 1943 as a memorial to Mm. Dr. Sir Ganganath Jha, an eminent Sanskrit scholar, thinker, writer and educationist, who was also the Vice-Chancellor of the Allahabad University from 1923 to 1932. The aims and objects of the Institute were (i) to undertake, promote, encourage and foster research and investigation in Sanskrit and other Indian languages : (ii) to establish and maintain a Sanskrit Library and Reading Room; (iii) to publish original Sanskrit texts and other works including translations, journals and bibliographies ; and (iv) to collect and preserve manuscripts bearing on Indian languages and culture.

The Institute has been serving as a specialised centre of research in Tantrik literature and Indian philosophy. About 50,000 original manuscripts and rare books kept in the library of the Institute make it an institution having one of the rarest libraries in the country. The Institute made considerable progress during the tenure of Dr. Mahesh Mishra, when it planned to bring out important manuscripts in the field of Philosophy, Dharmashastra as also the reprints of works like Khandan khanda khadya, Advaita siddhi, etc. as also a research journal.

During 1969-70, the assets of the Institute totalled more than a million rupees including a building worth more than a lakh of rupees and 10,000 printed volumes and number of Sanskrit manuscripts, etc. The Institute had an income of Rs. 6,000/- per annum from the securities and sale of publications, etc. and Rs. 5,000/-from the Uttar Pradesh Government. The Government of India also paid an amount of Rs. 13,750/- to the Instituts as an advance grant for maintenance, Rs. 20,000/- as the first instalment of building grant of Rs. 1.07 lakhs and an equipment grant of Rs. 56,250/- during 1969-70.

The yearwise requirement of funds for the Vidyapeetha for the years 1971-72 and 1972-73 are Rs. 2.25 lakhs and Rs. 3.85 lakhs respectively.

Shri Ranbir Kendriya Sanskrit Vidapeetha, Jammu

Kashmir has made a special contribution to the Sanskrit language and literature in the fields of Shaivism and Alamkara Shastra. This Vidyapeetha, formerly the Raghunath Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, Jammu was established in 1858 by His Highness Shri Ranbir Singh for the study of the Vedas and Sanskrit language and literature. The Raghunath Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya was being run by the Dharmarth Trust headed by Dr. Karan Singh, its sole trustee. The Mahavidyalaya drew the attention of the Central Sanskrit Board in May, 1861 when it was decided that it may be inspected at the time of the next session of All India Oriental Conference proposed to be held at Srinagar in October, 1961. It was also decided that the Mahavidyalaya should be given assistance in the light of the results of the proposed inspection. The Mahavidyalaya consisted of four primary classes, the Prajna, the Visharada, the Shastri and the Acharya classes. Upto Visharada, the syllabi prescribed by the Government of Jammu & Kashmir was followed. For Shastri and Acharya, the syllabi prescribed by the University of Jammu & Kashmir was adopted and the Mahavidyalaya was affiliated to that university. In the Acharya course, only Sahitya was being taught while in the Shastri and Visharada courses Jyotisha was also an alternative subject. In view of the fact that there is a long tradition of Sanskrit learning in Jammu & Kashmir, as also that there was no well-equipped Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya or institution of higher Sanskrit study anywhere in Jammu & Kashmir, the Kendriya Sanskrit Parishad approved taking over of the Mahavidyalaya as a Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha by the Government of India.

An Inspection Committee appointed by the Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan visited the Vidyapeetha in January, 1971. According to the report of the Committee, the number of students enrolled in the Prajna, Visharada, Shastri and Acharya courses was 61. The Committee recommended that as a field of specialisation for the Vidyapeetha, research and publication relating to Kashmir Shaivism and Rhetorics may be most appropriate considering the tradition of Jammu & Kashmir in respect of these subjects. The Committee also suggested inclusion of local Iconography in the subsequent programmes of the Vidyapeetha. The possibility of opening Shiksha Shastri courses with the cooperation of either the Jammu University or the Varanaseya Sanskrit Vishvavidyalaya was also to be explored. The Vidyapeetha is located in a rented building at Jammu pending the development of land earmarked for the Vidyapeetha at Uttar Bahini.

The yearwise requirements of funds for the Vidyapeetha for 1971-72 and 1972-73 are Rs. 2.75 lakhs and Rs. 4.15 lakhs respectively.

Shri Sadashiva Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha, Puri

Orissa has been tradionally known as an ideal centre of integration. All the major sects with mutually conflicting ideal-ogies have been co-existing inPuri from time immemorial wit-hout any sense of conflict. Puri again is perhaps the only place in India where some of the evils of Indian society like untouchability, etc. were not allowed to affect the traditional discipline. It has been a centre, in addition to the Odissi music, art, architeture and culture, of various branches of Sanskrit learning including philosophy. The Sadashiva College, Puri assumed its shape from a Sanskrit class and library which were opened by the late Maharaja, Shri D.S. Bahadur, KCI, Balarampur who donated money for the pur-pose in 1865. He also subscribed a yearly amount to provide food to the students. This was continued by his heirs and ceased on the abolition of the zamindari system in 1949. After some time, the class was converted to a separate Sanskrit school where Grammar, Kavya and Nyaya were taught. In 1918, Mm. Sadashiva Mishra contributed a substantial amount to get this school converted to the status of a college. At the time of its inception as a college, classes of Kavya, Vyakarana, Nyaya, Vedanta, Smriti were being held in it. From the year 1925-26, classes in Sankhya-yoga, Vaishnava Philosophy, Agama and Purana and English were also begun in the college. The Government of Bihar and Orissa set up a hostel in the college during the same year. After the formation of the separate State of Orissa in 1936, the college was affiliated to the Orissa Association of Sanskrit Learning and Culture

Bureau, and since 1948 the college has been under the direct control of the Director of Public Instruction, Orissa. The college had also an Ayurveda Section which was amalgamated to the Gopa Bandhu Ayurveda Vidyapeetha in 1967. The college imparted free education to Purva Madhyama, Uttara Madhyama, Shastri and Acharya students, and in the year 1969, the number of students passing in these examinations was 37 as against the total number of 45 who appeared in the examinations. The students are taught Sahitya, Vyakarana, Dharma shastra, Jyotisha, Nyaya, Sankhya-yoga, Mimansa, Vedanta, Purana and Agama. In addition English, Mathematics and Social Studies are also taught to the students appearing in the high school certificate examinations conducted by the Board of Secondary Education, Orissa. In 1970-71, the college was imparting education to 82 students. The college has a spacious building on a plot of land measuring 9 acres. There are 7,000 printed books and 400 palm leaf manuscripts in its library.

The proposal for taking over of the college was approved by the Kendriya Sanskrit Parishad in its meeting held in May, 1970. An Inspection Committee appointed by the Sanskrit Parishad also visited the Vidyapeetha. The Committee observed, "It would be quite in the fitness of things if the Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha at Puri serves as a centre of research for integration of the ideas and ideals in all major systems of Indian philosophy. While basic subjects like Sahitya, Vyakarana would continue to be taught at the Vidyapeetha, a strong centre for research in the integrating aspects of Indian culture could be set up at the Vidyapeetha." The Committee also recommended that some of the Shakhas of the Shukla Yajurveda and Krishna Yajurveda which were still alive in Mayurbhanj, Balasore and Jaipur might be taken up for research at the Vidyapeetha.

The State Government of Orissa has given a donation of 31 acres of land for the Vidyapeetha and has also allowed the use of the premises of the college till the Vidyapeetha constructs a building of its own. The yearwise requirements of the Vidyapeetha for the years 1971-72 and 1972-73 are Rs. 2.13 lakhs and Rs. 4.15 lakhs respectively.

Modernisation of Sanskrit Pathashalas

While the traditional system of Sanskrit education has its its own merits, the fact that it is to cope up with the latest advancements in various spheres including sciences, cannot be overlooked. Though it is true that in the past, India was a source house of knowledge in all fields of learning, the fact that different disciplines of education have now developed themselves in the Western countries remains unchallenged. The Sanskrit Commission took note of this position and observed that in the graduate and post-graduate classes of Sanskrit colleges, an adequate knowledge of developmen t in the West in corresponding spheres was not being imparted in the country. The Commission recommended that students of the different Shastras, in the final stages, should be given a knowledge of the corresponding developments in Western thought. The Commission even went to the extent of suggesting that a historical and comparati ve study of the Eastern and Western developments in the disciplines concerned should be undertaken so that our Shastras may be reformulated and enriched.

There are many modern subjects which should be introduced in the traditional Sanskrit pathashalas. However, with the decreasing funds at their command, these pathashalas could not be axpected to appoint teachers to teach the student all modern subjects. The Government of India are also for the time being not in a position to grant financial assistance to all pathashalas in the country to appoint teachers for all modern subjects. The position of the State Governments is the same. The Government of India, therefore, to make a beginning, agreed to give 100% grant to different State Governments-Union Territories for payment of salary of one science/mathematics teacher for Sanskrit pathashalas.

The Government of India also drew up in consultation with the Central Sanskrit Board a syllabus of Sanskrit examinations under a 'Scheme of Re-organised Sanskrit Education in the Sanskrit Pathashalas'. This syllabus included inter alia modern subjects like English, regional languages, mother tongue, mathematics, social sciences, general science and hitherto neglected subjects like Vedas and corresponding Western branches of learning.

During the Third Five Year Plan period, a sum of Rs. 22,000/- was spent on the implementation of the scheme, the expenditure being Rs. 0.11 lakh each in 1964-65 and 1965-66. During 1968-69, an amount of Rs. Rs. 0.22 lakh was spent on modernisation of Sanskrit pathashalas. The expenditure on the States ranged from Rs. 1800/- (Mysore) to Rs. 4,660/- (Gujarat). During 1969-70, an amount of Rs. 0.29 lakh was spent—Punjab having the lead (Rs. 6,930). In 1970-71, the same amount was spent on this account.

This scheme is also one of the Centrally Sponsored Schemes for development of Sanskrit and for the Fourth Five Year Plan an outlay of Rs. 65.00 lakhs is provided for all the Centrally Sponsored Schemes including this scheme.

Facilities for Teaching of Sanskrit in Secondary Schools

One of the reasons why Sanskrit education is not imparted in the various schools all over the country is the inability of the State Governments to incur expenditure on appointment of Sanskrit teachers in their schools. In order to help the State Governments to overcome their financial difficulty in appointing Sanskrit teachers in their schools as well as in purchasing Sanskrit books for their libraries, the Government of India are implementing a Centrally ponsored scheme for providing facilities for teaching of Sanskrit in secondary schools of the country. Under this scheme, 100% grants are made to the schools through the State Governments for introduction of Sanskrit. The grants are given for appointment of upto 4 teachers in each State and upto 2 teachers in Union Territories for teaching Sanskrit.

During the Third Plan period, an amount of Rs 0.68 lakh was spent on this scheme as compared to the total expenditure of Rs. 13.16 lakhs. The yearwise expenditure was Rs. 0.07 lakh (1964-65) and Rs. 0.61 lakh (1965-66). The expenditure on this scheme during 1968-69 was Rs. 50,370/- as compared to the total expenditure of Rs. 9.00 lakhs on Centrally Sponsored Schemes during the year. The amount granted to the various States ranged from Rs. 2,800/- (Maharashtra) to Rs. 14,880/- (Assam). During the first two years of the Fourth Five Year Plan, an amount of Rs. 65,080/- and Rs. 40, 676/- was spent on this scheme during 1969-70 and 1970-71 respectively. The amount granted to individual States ranged from Rs. 2,800/- (Maharashtra) to Rs. 23,040/- (Haryana) during 1969-70 and from Rs. 2,556/- (Orissa) to Rs. 19,680/- (Assam) during 1970-71.

The Scheme of Reorganised Sanskrit Education in Pathashalas

While the Sanskrit Commission had recommended that the traditional pathashala system of Sanskrit education and higher studies should be continued, preserved and recognised as an accepted form of education, it had also desired that efforts should be made to reorganise the traditional Sanskrit pathashalas and their syllabi with a view to obtain uniformity in the duration of courses, standard of examinations and syllabuses. It was also necessary to introduce modern subjects in these institutions so that the products of these pathashalas could be given the same status as enjoyed by the students passing the equivalent courses in the modern educational set-up. The Central Sanskrit Board accordingly appointed a committee on standardization and equivalence of Sanskrit examinations. The standard scheme of traditional Sanskrit examinations prepared by the committee dealt with the nomenclature, duration and equivalence of the examinations. The report of the committee was further examined by the Board in its fourth meeting held in 1960. The Board resolved that the consolidated scheme of re-organised Sanskrit education thus prepared should be recommended for adoption by all universities, State Sanskrit Boards, Secondary Education Boards, private organisations etc. The scheme was further revised by the Board and was later on conveyed to the different Sanskrit organisations holding examinations, for adoption.

In order to bring about uniformity in the standard and nomenclature of various traditional types of particulars Sanskrit examinations being held by a number of examining bodies all over the country, the Government of India have approved that all the examining bodies conducting Sanskrit examinations according to the traditional system should follow the outline of the scheme of re-organised Sanskrit education. The following duration for various courses of Sanskrit has been approved by the Government of India :—

(a) Praveshika or Primary stage	5 years
(b) Prathama or Middle or Lower Secondary stage.	3 years
(c) Madhyama or Higher Secondary stage.	3 years
(d) Shastri or B.A.	3 years
(e) Acharya or M.A.	2 years
(f) Vidya varidhi or Ph.D.	2 years after Acharya
(g) Vidya vachaspati or D. Litt.	2 years after Vidya-varidhi.

For the present, a period of 3 years has been recommended for the Madhyama Course. Should, however, the total period of University education go up, one year more may be added to the Madhyama course which would make it a four-year course.

Praveshika stage is a course extending over a period of five years corresponding to the Primary stage of the modern educational set up. The courses of studies will be the same as of the primary stage of the corresponding level. The medium of instruction will be the regional language. The students will be encouraged to memorise verses from the second chapter of Srimad Bhagavadgita and selected subhashitas from the Panchatantra.

Prathama stage is a course extending over three years after primary education of five years. As a matter of principle, qualification for admission to this stage should be fixed as a pass certificate in the Praveshika or 5th class/standard or a pass in an equivalent admission test.

First, second and third years of the Prathama correspond to the middle [or Junior High or Lower Secondary] school stage. The quantum of time allotted to modern knowledge should be about half of the total study, the other half being reserved for Sanskrit. The modern subjects to be added are Matri Bhasha [or Kshetra Bhasha], English, Social Studies, General Science and Elementary Mathematics. A pass in these subjects is necessary before the certificate is awarded.

At the Madhyama stage of three years corresponding to the Higher Secondary stage of general education, the quantum of and time allotted to Sanskrit should be about half of the total study, the other half being reserved for modern subjects comprising a composite course of Hindi and another modern Indian language, English, Mathematics, Social Studies and General Science. While the Composite Course of Hindi and another modern Indian language and English continue to be studied for all the three years, the other non-Sanskrit subjects, viz., Social Studies, General Science and Mathematics may be taught and examined at the end of the first or Second year. Nobody should be allowed to appear for the final examination at the end of the third year of Madhyama without passsing three subjects.

'Shastri' of three years duration corresponds to the three-year degree course of universities. Here the non-Sanskritic part, English, a modern Indian language, Indian History and Culture with special reference to Sanskrit Literature should be studied.

The Sanskrit part should contain general and special parts. General part should comprise Shastra Prakaranas of Darshana, selected Vedic texts, selected Upanishads, Vyakarana and Sahitya. The special part should be a Shastra.

'Acharya' stage corresponds to the two year post-graduate or M.A. course obtaining in universities.

There will be two parts—comparative and special. The special part, should be an advanced study of a Shastra. Under the comparative part there should be a study of the development of the Western and other systems of thought in the corresponding spheres. For example, a student offering Darshana should take Western Philosophy; a student specialising in Vyakarans should study the Science of Language and Indo-European Linguistics; a student pursuing Sahitya should read History and Principles of Literary Criticism and aesthetics in the west.

Owing to the inclusion of modern subjects with a view to placing Sanskrit education on parallel lines with modern education, the degree of proficiency attained in the old system where Sanskrit alone was studied, would obviously be attained only by the lengthening of the duration of Sanskrit study. Therefore, it would be more advantageous if Sanskrit institutions (possessing the necessary equipment) provide for regular post-Acharya study. This post-Acharya study may be of a duration of four years in all for those who have the required proficiency and aptitude. The first two years of this specialised study may lead up to a research degree. Vidyavaridhi should have two written papers of intensive Shastraic study, one dissertation and the viva-voce examination. After this Vidyavaridhi a further opportunity to do specialised work of a more intensive character should be provided for further research and specialised work for a period of two years, at the end of which they will be expected to produce a substantial research work, correlating and presenting in an analytic and interpretative way the result of their investigations. At this stage, one may receive a research degree called 'Vidya vachaspati' two years after getting the Vidyavaridhi Degree. Residential qualifications should be necessary in the case of both these research degrees.

Thus the entire duration of this pattern of Sanskrit study up to the highest specialisation will generally be of 18 years.

Detailed syllabi in Sanskritic as well as non-Sanskritic subjects are to be prepared by the examining bodies concerned with due regard to the standard and equilvalence of the respective examination. The Government of India have, however, approved the general outlines of the syllabi which are given in the appendix.

As already reported earlier Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan has been established by the Government of India to supervise and administer the five Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeethas taken over by the Government In consultation with the Kendriya Sanskrit Parishad, the Government of India have now prepared a model syllabus for all Sankrit examinations (to be held by the Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan) for all examining bodies includiug the Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeethas affiliated to it. In preparation of this detailed syllabus the requirements of the re-organised scheme of Sanskrit education have been fully kept in view. It is hoped that the voluntary Sanskrit organisations by and large will adopt this standard syllabus which has already been approved by the Varanaseya Sankrit Vishwavidyalaya and the Kameshwar Singh Darbhanga Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya·

Equivalence of Traditional Sanskrit Examinations

The traditional Sanskrit institutions in the country are in many cases conducting their own examinations. They have their own syllabi, system of examination, duration of the courses and their own standard for award of degrees. Alongwith the privately managed traditionl Sanskrit pathashalas, a number of Indian universities as well as State Governments are holding their own examinations and are awarding degrees, diplomas, etc. to the successful candidates. Thus, while it could be presumed that each of these institutions was trying its utmost to keep up uniform standard in respect of its various courses, it was alwyas desirable that among all these institutions there should be some amount of uniformity in the matter of syllabi, duration of courses, system of examinations and equivalence of degrees awarded to the students. The Sanskrit Commission also took note of the situation and recommended that equivalence of all the Sanskrit examintions held by different tranditional Sanskrit institutions should be fixed vis-a-vis the examination held by the governmental organisations according to the moden educational set-up. The Government of India also considered this vital question in consultation with the Central Sanskrit Board. The Board appointed a committee on standardization and equivalence of Sanskrit examinations. The report of the committee was considered by the Central Sanskit Board in July, 1960. Particulars received from various examining bodies were scrutinised and these examining bodies were later on inspected by a team consisting of the members of the Central Sanskrit Board. The question of equivalence of these examinations was of vital importance to the Sanskrit students owing to the fact that they were unable to get proper employment as the equivalence of the degrees received by them was not fixed vis-a-vis other degrees in the modern educational set-up. After a close scrutiny and inspection of the institutions awarding the degrees, the Government of India in 1964 fixed the equivalence of various examinations being held by the different voluntary organisations. In 1965, 1967, 1968 and 1969 equivalence of the degrees of some more institutious was fixed.

Traditional Sanskrit examinations are now being held by the Varanaseya Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya, M S. University, Baroda, University of Madras, Annamalai University, University of Andhra, University of Poona, Banaras Hindu University. Lucknow University, Osmania University, Punjab University, Kashi Vidyapeeth, Gurukula Kangri Vishwavidyalvya and Kameshwar Singh Darbhanga Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya. Among the State Governments, the Governments of Assam, Rajasthan, Mysore, Kerala, Madras and Andhra Pradesh hold their own Sanskrit examinations. Among the private organisations, the names of those holding their own traditional Sanskrit examinations are as follows: Bihar Sanskrit Association, Brihad Gujarat Sanskrit Parishad, Bhartiya Vidya Bhavan, Tilak Maharashtra Vidyapeetha, Veda Shastrottejaka Sabha, Poona, Bangiya Sanskrit Shiksha Parishad, Calcutta, Gurukul Vrindavan, U.P., Utkal Sanskrit Samiti and Shrimad Dayananda Arsha Vidyapeetha. Haryana, Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeeth, Tirupati also holds its own examinations.

It is now proposed that the Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan will hold Sanskrit examinations for the five Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeethas. The Sansthan had adopted a model syllabus for its examinations and it is hoped that more and more institutions will take to this syllabus for holding their examinations. An effort is also being made to get these traditional degrees recognised by the Government of India for purposes of general employment in the Central Government services.

A list of the traditional Sanskrit Examinations recognised by the Government of India, vis-a-vis the examinations in the modern educational set-up and their equivalence is given in the appendix.

Place of Sanskrit in The Three-Language Formula

It was only after the modern universities under English auspices came into existence and schools of modern type began to be established that the doors of Sanskrit were opened wide for all. Following the curriculum of the University of London, the Universities of Calcutta and Bombay made a classical language compulsory for all those who would sit in the entrance examination which enable students to join a college for university courses. At that time the University of Calcutta had a very wide jurisdiction including not only Bengal but also Assam, Bihar and Uttar Pradesh. In Bombay University, Sanskrit was equally compulsory. In Madras, though Sanskrit was not made a compulsory language, it was one of the optional languages in addition to Telugu, Kannada, Malayalam and Tamil. This introduction of Sanskrit to a very large number of pupils in the country has produced most efficient results, for we have had due to this a large number of eminent Sanskrit scholars from all classes of society all over the country who have helped largely to popularise the knowledge of Sanskrit and the content of its literature. It is apparent that for a steady development and propagation of Sanskrit it is necessary that the study of Sanskrit must be a part of general education and an essential complement to the higher studies of certain other subjects such as modern Indian languages, ancient history and Indian philosophy, etc. This was also advocated by Shri Jawaharlal Nehru in the following words :—

> "I would personally like as many Indians as possible to know Sanskrit which is the very basis of our culture. I see no difficulty about this. The more languages one knows, the more one knows one's own language."

The Sanskrit Commission after giving due consideration to the place of Sanskrit in the general educational set-up, recommended a three-language formula. It recommended that in secondary schools all students should be taught the mother-tongue or regional language, English and Sanskrit. As another preference the Commission favoured a course of four languages, namely, the mother-tongue, English and Hindi, plus a composite course of Sanskrit—either with the mother tongue or Hindi or both.

The Central Sanskrit Board considered the three language formula in its very first meeting. The Board felt that, as already recommended by the Central Advisory Board of Education, the only way-out was the provision of the composite course with Hindi or with regional language under which Sanskrit could be taught compulsorily. The State Governments and the Secondary Education Boards and Universities were thus to be asked to ensure that marks allotted to Sanskrit and the regional language or Hindi under the composite course, as the case may be, should be in the ratio of 60 : 40 and in the later classes 40 : 60. This three language formula continued to be discussed in several meetings of the Board up to its 18th meeting held in February, 1956 when the Board recommended the following formula to the Government of India for the integration of Sanskrit into the Indian educational system:—

For Non-Hindi Speaking States :

1. Regional language,
2. English, and
3. Hindi and Sanskrit on 50 : 50 basis.

For Hindi Speaking States :

1. Regional language,
2. English, and
3. Any other modern Indian language and Sanskrit on 50 : 50 basis.

The Board decided that this provision should be adopted immediately after the primary stage. The Government of India, according to the recommendations of the Central Sanskrit Board addressed the various State Governments for providing the study of Sanskrit in their language formulae. Accordingly, the State Government of Andhra Pradesh has introduced Sanskrit as a third language in their higher secondary schools from the academic year 1970-71. The Bihar Government has a provision for special incentive for studying Sanskrit by making it an extra paper for secondary or higher secondary examinations. The marks obtained in the Sanskrit examination less 30 are credited to the aggregate as additional marks to the students for determining place in the merit list. This has proved very effective and about 80% students are actually offering Sanskrit. In Gujarat, Sanskrit is being taught as a compulsory subject from 8th to 10th standards. In the 11th standard, Sanskrit is an optional subject. In Haryana, arrangements exist for the study of Sanskrit from the 8th class and the students can offer it as a subject of study from that class. In Madhya Pradesh, Sasnkrit is being taught as a third language in the three language formula on a compulsory basis up to the 10th class in the higher secondary schools and on an optional basis in the 11th class. In all the colleges there is provision for teaching of Sanskrit up to the highest level. In eight universities in Madhya Pradesh and 45 Government colleges, provision exists for the study of Sanskrit. In Maharastra, efforts are being made to prescribe Sanskrit in the syllabus of secondary stage education on optional basis. In Mysore, provision has been made for study of Sanskrit as a composite course along with the regional language or mother-tongue under first language, or in lieu of regional language, or in lieu of compulsory Hindi from the 3rd to 7th classes in the oriental primary schools. In Kerala, Sanskrit is taught as an optional language. In Himachal Pradesh, there is a proposal to make a composite course of Hindi and Sanskrit. In Uttar Pradesh, Sanskrit is being taught as one of the languages under the three language formula. Moreover, in courses of compulsary Hindi at the secondary stage, Sanskrit lessons have also been included. Sanskrit is compulsory in a composite course of Hindi from the 6th to the 7th classes. In Delhi, Sanskrit is one of the compulsory subjects in the schools from the 6th to 8th classes and optional in the higher secondary classes. In NEFA, Sanskrit is proposed to be introduced as an optional subject from the 7th class onward. In Laccadive and Minicoy, Sanskrit has been introduced as a third language in the higher Secondary schools from 1970-71. In Tripura, Sanskrit is compulsory from the 8th class onward for the humanities group. In Chandigarh, Sanskrit is being taught as a subject optional to music, drawing, etc. from the 6th class onward . It is an elective subject at the higher secondary stage and optional as well as elective subject at the college level. In Dadar and Nagar Haveli and Pondicherry, Sanskrit is neither compulsory nor optional. In Orissa, Sanskrit is taught as a compulsory subject from 6th class up to the end of the course. One can take Sanskrit in lieu of Hindi from the 8th to the 11th class.

In addition to the placement of Sanskrit in the three language formula at the school standard and in the universities as an elective subject, several universities have olso made provision for a compulsory or optional paper in Sanskrit in their curriculum of modern Indian Languages at the post-graduate level. However, as far as the Kameshwar Singh Darbhanga Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya and the Varanaseya Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya are concerned, Sanskrit is the main subject in all examinations conducted by the universities. In the Panjabi University, Patiala, there is a compulsory paper of Sanskrit in Philosophy and Hindi at the post graduate level. In Kurukshetra University also, there is a compulsory paper in Sanskrit for M. A. examination. The Andhra Univerversity, Waltair has included Sanskrit in the syllabus of the M. A. degree examination of Tulugu language and literature, both at the previous examination and the final examination. In the course of Hindi language and literature also, Sanskrit is included in the final examination of M.A. for non-Hindi speaking students. The University of Calcutta offers subsidiary Sanskrit at post-graduate level for Modern Indian Language courses. In the Utkal University, Sanskrit forms a part of two papers of M. A. examination in Oriya and Hindi languages and can be offered as an optional subject. The Rajasthan University has also made a paper on Sanskrit compulsory in the M.A. Hindi course. In the Shri Venkateshwara University, Tirupati, Sanskrit has been prescribed as one of the compulsory subjects for Telugu M.A. examinations. In the Punjab University, Chandigarh, the lecturers in Punjabi are required to pass the degree examination in Sanskrit. The University of Kerala, Trivandrum provides for a compulsory paper of Sanskrit for M.A. degree course in Malayalam language and literature and has also made Sanskrit one of the optional subjects for the M.A. Hindi course. The Jadavpur University, Calcutta is going to make Sanskrit optional for those students at the post-graduate level as had offered Sanskrit at the lowar levels. Many a University like the Banaras Hiudu University, Varanasi, though agreeable to introducing Sanskrit as an optional paper at the post-graduate level in the syllabi of modern Indian languages, has been unable to do so for want of funds for appointment of the required number of lecturers of Sanskrit.

Research Scholarships for the Products of Traditional Sanskrit Pathashalas

Sanskrit language and literature are the source-head of Indian culture and civilisation. It is only by research that a deep and vital study of Sanskrit can be made. The Sanskrit Commission was also of the opinion that the subjects of research in the field of Srnskrit and Indology are still part of the living tradition and culture in India and there should be free and ample scope of fresh investigation and interpretation in the field of Indology. It recommended several incentives including attractive research scholarships for the Sanskrit scholars for carrying out research in Sanskrit. The recommendation of the Sanskrit Commission with regard to the award of research scholarships to Sanskrit scholars was approved by the Government of India and a scheme for award of research scholarships to the products of traditional Sanskrit pathashalas was formulated in consultation with the Central Sanskrit Board. This scheme was started in the Second Five Year Plan. Under this Scheme, traditional Sanskrit students who have passed the highest examinations on the traditional lines like Acharya, Shiromani, Tirtha, etc. are awarded scholarships for undertaking research in Sanskrit. The selected scholars are given scholarships @ Rs. 200/- per month. normally for a period of two years. The subjects for research include critically editing difficult Shastaic texts, bringing out expositions of the erudite texts or commentaries thereof, study of any eminent Sanskrit author or thought and its development, etc.

An amount of Rs. 3.04 lakhs was spent on award of esearch scholarships under the seheme during the Third Five rYear Plan. While the expenditure on the scheme was Rs.0.16 lakh during 1961-62, it went upto Rs. 0.95 lakh during 1965-66, as fresh candidates continued to be selected for award of the scholarships in each successive year. In 1962-63 an amount of Rs. 0.45 lakh was spent on this account against the budget estimates of Rs. 0.44 lakh. During 1963-64. the budget estimates and and expenditure were Rs. 0.61 lakh and Rs. 0.81 lakh respectively. The expenditure during 1964-65 was Rs. 0.66 lakh. The number of students who were awarded seholarship during 1960-61 and 1961-62 was 15 each year. The number of awardees rose to 16 in 1962-63, 21 in 1963-64, 23 in 1964-65 and 25 in 1965-66. During the period from 1966-67 to 1968-69 an amount of Rs. 4.98 lakhs was spent on award of research scholarships. The yearwise expenditure was Rs. 1.62 lakhs in 1967-68, Rs. 1.86 lakhs in 1967-68 and Rs. 1.50 lakhs in 1668-69. During the same years, the number of fresh awardees was 34 in 1966-67, 16 in 1967-68 and 59 in 1968-69. An amount of Rs. 25.00 lakhs has been proposed as the outlay for the scheme during the Fourth Five Year Plan period. Against this, the expenditure during 1969-70 and 1970-71 was Rs. 1.58 lakhs and Rs. 3.14 lakhs respectively. The number of awardees during 1969-70 and 1970-71 was 49 and 57 respectively. The budget estimates for the years 1971-72 and 72-73 and 1973-74 are Rs. 5.40 lakhs, Rs. 5.14 lakhs and Rs. 5.14 lakhs respectively. It is proposed to award at least 60 scholarships each during these three years.

The details of the names of scholars awarded research scholarships from 1960-61 to 1970-71 are given at the Appendix-24 alongwith the subjects of their research.

National Scholarships for the Shastri and Acharya Students

The scheme for Award of National Scholarships to the Shastri and Acharya students, with a view to encourage the study of Sanskrit in the traditional type of sanskrit institutions, was first discussed by the Central Sanskrit Board at its 18th meeting held in Ferbuary, 1966. Under the scheme it was proposed to offer a number of scholarships to students offering the Shastri and Acharya courses in Sanskrit institutions recognised by the State Governments. At its 19th meeting held in June, 1960 the Board recommnded awarding 100 national scholarships—66 for the Shastri students and 40 for Acharya students. The awards were to be made strictly on merits on an all-India basis.

However, when the scheme came into implementation during 1970-71, it was decided that the total number of scholarships to be awarded under the scheme will be 50 in a single year, out of which 30 will be earmarked for Shastri and 20 for Acharya-students. The value of the scholarship per student per month was to be Rs. 60.00 and Rs. 100.00 for the Shastri and Acharya students respectively, Under the scheme, students enrolled for Shastri, Acharya or equivalent recognised degrees in a recognised institution are eligible to apply for award of the scholarship. Only such students as have secured at least 50% marks in the Madhyama or its equivalent recognised examination are eligible for award of scholarship for the Shastri Part-I course. The minimum requirement of 50% of marks continues up to completion of the Acharya course. Other things being equal, preference is given to such of the students as affer the neglected subjects like Vedas, Vedanta, Mimansa, Vyakarana, Nyaya-Vaishesika and Agama.

In 1170-71 the number of scholarships awarded for the Shastri and Acharya courses was 11 and 13 respectively. It is proposed to award all the 50 scholarships under the scheme during 1971-72 and 1972-73.

Scholarships for Post-Matric Studies in Sanskrit

The Scheme for award of scholarships to students for post-matric Studies in Sanskrit is yet another scheme to encourage students to take to the study of Sanskrit at the Pre-University, Intermediate, Graduate, Post-graduate, and Teachers Training courses and for research leading to Ph.D. degree. Students have to study Sanskrit as one of the main subjects in these classes in order to become eligible for award of scholarships under this scheme. The scheme provides for award of 105 scholarships every year, the actual number depending on the availability of funds. The scholarship is terminated if a scholar later on changes over to a course in which Sanskrit is not available as a main subject of study. The minimum qualification for eligibility for scholarships in various courses of study is that the candidate must have passed the required qualifying examination with at least 50% marks in Sanskrit. Applications under the scheme are to be routed through the institutions in which the applicants intend to prosecute their study or research or training for which the scholarship is sought for by them. The selections are made on the basis of the recommendations of a Selection Committee appointed by the Government of India for the purpose in consultation with the Kendriya Sanskrit Parishad. The scholarships for various courses are tenable for one academic year. However, for courses of a duration of two years, the scholarships are continued for the second academic year as well.

The following scholarships are awarded under the scheme :—

(a) Intermediate, Pre-University
Course and 1st year of the

3 year degree course or equivalent course.	Rs. 40/- per month
(b) B.A./B.A. (Hons) 2nd and 3rd year degree course or equivalent course.	Rs. 50/- per month
(c) M.A. (Sanskrit) or equivalent course like post-graduate teachers training course.	Rs. 100/- per month
(d) Ph.D. in Sanskrit	Rs. 200/- per month

This scheme was sanctioned with effect from 1970-71. During that year, 56 students were awarded scholarships under this scheme. During 1971-72 and 1972-73, it is proposed to award 105 scholarships per annum.

Scholarships to Students of High or Higher Secondary Schools Studying Sanskrit

This is also a centrally sponsored scheme under which 100% expenditure is met by grants from the Central Government to the various Srate Governments. The necessity of implementing this scheme arose due to the fact that the study of Sanskrit being non-lucrative, the number of students taking this subject in high/higher secondary schools was dwindling because more and more students were taking to sciences and other modern subjects at this stage of education. The Government of India, therefore, in consultatian with the Central Sanskrit Board, and as recommended by the Sanskrit Commission, formulated a scheme of offering incentives to the students of high/higher secondary schools by way of award of scholarships for studying Sanskrit in the ninth, tenth & eleventh classes. Under this scheme, a scholarships of Rs. 10 per month are awarded to the students who study Sanskirt in these three final classes. The mumber of scholarships in each State is generally 50 for each class, In the Union Territories, this varies from 10 to 30 each class. However, the total numer of scholarships allotted to different State Governments and Union Territories varies according to the requirements of the State Government or Union Territory concerned.

During the Third Five Year Plan, an amount of Rs. 6.05 lakhs was spent under this scheme. The yearwise expenditure, beginning from the year 1963-64, when this scheme came into being, was Rs. 1.09 lakhs, Rs. 1.99 lakhs (1964-65) and Rs 2 97 lakhs (1965 66). Thus this scheme absorbed nearly half of the total amount (Rs. 13.16 lakhs) spent on all centrally sponsored schemes. During 1968-69, an expenditure of Rs. 2.63 lakhs was incurred on this scheme as compared to the total amount of Rs. 9.00 lakhs on all centrally sponsored schemes during that year. The amount of grant released to individual States ranged from Rs. 7,200 (Haryana) to Rs. 26,640 (Andhra Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh). During the first two years of the Fourth Five Year Plan, the amount spent on this scheme was Rs 2.63 lakhs each in both the years, as compared to thetotal amount of Rs. 11 25 lakhs (1969-70) and Rs. 12.00 lakhs (1970-71) spent on all centrally sponsored schemes. The expenditure incurred on individual States in both the years ranged from Rs. 7,200 (Haryana) to Rs. 26,640 (Andhra Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh).

Production of Sanskrit Literature

On the recommendation of the Sanskrit Commission as well as consepuent on the advice of the Central Sankrit Board, the Government of India prepared several schemes for production of Sanskrit literature. The scheme of grant of financial assistance for production of Sanskrit literature served many purposes. It encouraged various scholars intending to bring out original compositions in Sanskrit, which they were not able to do for paucity of funds. In additon to the original compositions by these scholars, there were several important Sanskrit treatises on different subjects which needed exposition in the form of commentaries or translations in English or other Indian languages in order to make the subject comprehensible to the readers. There was also a need to prepare text-books in Sanskrit on different subjects including modern subjects. It was also essential to familiarise the Sanskrit world with the important works in other languages. Moreover, the Sanskrit Commission had emphasised the need of prepartion of catalouges of Sanskrit manuscripts in different parts of the country. For purpose of Sanskrit research also it was of utmost importance to get hundreds of important out-of-print Sanskrit books printed on a priority basis. Further, as observed by the Sanskrit Commission, it was also desirable to publish several rare manuscripts for facility of specialised study or research.

The Government of India, therefore, formulated and began implementing several schemes for production of Sankrit literature, viz. (i) financial assistance to individual scholars or academic organisations to bring out original Sanskrit publications or translations of and / or commentaries on earlier Sanskrit works, (ii) grant of financial assistance for reprinting important out-of-print Sanskrit books, (iii) grant of financial assistance for publishing rare Sanskrit manuscripts, (iv) grant of financial assistance for the publication of catalogues of Sanskrit manuscripts, (v) purchase of copies of Sanskrit books already brought out by individuals or institutions, (vi) purchase of rare manuscripts, (vii) grant of financial assistance to Sanskrit journals and (viii) critical editions of Sanskrit books. Grants for publication projects were also made from the funds allocated to the scheme of grant of financial assistance to voluntary Sanskrit organisations including development of gurukulas. As a result of concerted efforts on all these schemes, it has been possible for the Government of India to bring out over 200 works till now.

Prior to the commencement of the Third Five Year Plan period, grants for publication projects were given under the scheme of grant of financial assistance to voluntary Sanskrit organisations including gurukulas. In 1960-61, the Swadhyaya Mandal, Pardi was given financial assistance to the tune of Rs. 5,000 from Education Minister's discretionary fund for translation of the Vedas into Hindi. Another grant of Rs. 2,300 was given to Pandit Mukund Sharma, Delhi for bringing out the publication of the Linganushashana Prakarana of his Sanskrit dictionary.

During the Third Five Year Plan period, an expenditure of Rs. 9.70 lakhs was incurred on production of Sanskrit literature, the yearwise expenditure being Rs. 0.87 lakh in 1961-62 as against the budget estimates of Rs. 1.30 lakhs, Rs. 1.95 lakhs during 1962-63 as against the budget estimates of Rs. 1.64 lakhs, Rs 2.18 lakhs during 1963-64 as against the budget estimates of Rs. 1.50 lakhs, Rs. 2.53 lakhs during 1964-65 and Rs. 2.51 lakhs during 1965-66 against the budget estimates of Rs. 5.70 lakhs. During the years 1966-67 to 1968-69, an amount of Rs. 9.82 lakhs was spent on production of Sanskrit literature. The expenditure on this item showed a gradual increase during the three years, i.e., it rose to Rs. 4.24 lakhs during 1968-69 against the budget estimates of Rs. 4.45 lakhs from Rs. 2.80 lakhs during 1966-67 against the budget estimates of Rs. 3.70 lakhs. During 1967-68, the budget estimates and expenditure on this account were Rs. 4.50 lakhs and Marathi translation of Siddhanta Kaumudi under the editorship of Prof. Abhyankar, Kashika with Nyasa and Padamanjari commentaries, Kridanta Rupamala, Linganushasana Prakarana, etc. With regard to the books of reference, the Government of India brought out a cheaper edition of Apte's English-Sanskrit and Sanskrit-English Dictionaries which were priced at Rs. 4 and Rs. 6 as against their origional price of Rs. 12 and Rs. 20 respectively. Other dictionaries brought out with the Government of India's assistance are as follows:- Amarakosha with Amarapadavritti and Amarapadaparijata commentaries, Avyaya Kosha, Dharani Kosha, Jyotisa Shabda Kosha, Koshakalpataru, Paramanandiya Namamala and Shabda Kalpadruma. A Concordance to the Principal Upanishads and Bhagvad Gita (by G.A. Jacob) and Atharva Veda Sarvanukramani were also brought out by giving finanical assitance to M/s. Motilal Banarasidass and the Vishweshwaranand Vedic Research Institute, Hoshiarpur respectively. Among the rare manuscripts brought out with the Government assistance, mention may be made of Brihachchhabdaratna, Kosha Kalpadruma, Paryayashabda Ratna, Sanatkumara Samhita and Shiva Rahasyam. A Gujarati translation of Brahma Sutra Shankara Bhasya, a Kannada translation of Ramayana, a Malayalam translation of Sankhya Darshana, a Marathi translation of Siddhanta Kaumudi and a Maithili translation of Meghaduta were also brought out. Some important theses brought out under the scheme include "Acharya Buddhaghosa, aur Unaki Atthakathayen", Bhagavata Purana-A Linguistic Study, Ramayana aur Mahabharata Men Prakriti, Sanskrit Kavya Men Pashu Pakshi, Sanskritakshara Abhyasanam etc. Amongst the translations made from other languages into Sanskrit, the following are important : Satya-shodhanam, (Gandhiji's autobiography), Shakespeare Natak Katha Chatuskam and Tolstoy Kathadashakam from English. About 30 important out-of-print Sanskrit books were also published under this scheme.

Award of Prizes for preparation of Sanskrit Readers :

Under this Ministry's scheme of production of Sanskrit literature, a scheme of award of prizes was recommended by the Central Sanskrit Board in its 6th meeting held in April, 1961. Entries were accordingly invited for production of graded Sanskrit Readers for the 6th, 7th and 8th classes. The following three entries were selected for award of prizes by the Central Sanskrit Board in its 7th meeting :—

1. Sanskrit Vihar : Prof. P. N. Virkar.
2. Prathama Bhodhanavali-Dwitiya Bhodhanavali and Tritiya Bhodhanavali Shri K.L.V. Shastri.
3. Sanskrit Swadhyaya : Shri Gajanand Shastri Gayatonde.

Reprinting of Important out-of-print Sanskrit Books

The Sanskrit Commission, in its survey of Sanskrit literature, had found that there were many standard Sanskrit works and research publications which were not available at all. It, therefore, recommended that a selection should be made out of these works of texts, translations, expositions and tools of research like concordances, indices, etc. which need to be re-printed. There was also a need for reprinting of considerable body of Sanskrit texts which are available only in foreign editions or in Roman script.

The recommendation of the Sanskrit Commission regarding reprinting of important out-of-print Sanskrit books was considered by the Government of India in consultation with the Central Sanskrit Board. The Board expressed great concern that several Sanskrit books, some of them brought out by foreign scholars with great pains, were lying out-of-print. It was recommended that some publications should be got printed through commercial publishers by offset printing process. It was also decided to make the following books available in cheaper editions for the general public :—

1. Complete Works of Shankaracharya, 2. Valmiki Ramayana (Text only), 3. Mahabhasya with Pradipa, Udyota and Chhaya commentaries. It was also decided to explore the possibility of other universities taking out the task of printing some important out-of-print Sanskrit works on the basis of 50% financial assistance from the Government of India. The re-publication of Brihat Samhita and Tattwa Chintamani was also to be entrusted to the Varanaseya Sanskrit Vishwa vidyalaya.

Subsequently, a list of 186 important out-of-print Sanskrit books was drawn and steps were taken to assign the work of re-publishing them to 18 universities, 18 other voluntary Sanskrit organisations and commercial publishers. However, only 6 universities/Sanskrit institutions finally agreed to reprint the books assigned to them.

Details of Sanskrit books published by these universities/ Sanskrit institutions under this scheme are as under :—

1. M. S. University, Baroda : The university brought out all books (10) assigned to it under the scheme at a total expenditure of Rs. 39,934. The names of the books are given below : 1. Jayakhya Samhita, 2. Apabbramsha Kavyatrayi, 3. Manasollasa, 4. Gana Karika, 5. Tathagata Guhyaka, 6. Bhavisayatta Kaha, 7. Sadhana Mala Vols. I & II, 8. Bhava Prakashana, 9. Nyayapravesha.

2. Banaras Hindu University : An amount of Rs. 20,000 was granted to the university as the first instalment for bringing out 7 out-of-print Sanskrit books. The university has, however, been able to bring out only one book viz. Vidhirasayana of Appayya Dikshit.

3. Varanaseya Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya : An amount of Rs. 9,000 was paid to the Vishwavidyalaya as the first instalment for bringing out two Sanskrit works. The Vishwavidyalaya has since published one work, viz., Brihat Samhita with the commentry by Utpal. The second work assigned to the Vishwavidyalaya has now been allotted to the Bangiya Sanskrit Parishad, Calcutta.

4. Jadavpur University, Calcutta : Against the first instalment of Rs. 3,300/- towards the printing charges of the six volumes of Satsandarbha of Jiva Goswami, the university has published only one volume, viz., Tattwasandarbha.

5. Sanskrit Academy, Osmania University : Against the first instalment of Rs. 25,000 paid to the university for reprinting of Kashika with Nyasa and Padamanjari commentaries, the university has published two volumes of the book. The index of the Kashika and the Padamanjari is now under print.

6. Adyar Library, Madras : The Library has since brought out the two Sanskrit books, viz., Pancharatraraksha and Ahirbudhnya Samhita at a total expenditure of Rs. 4,710.

7. M/s. Motilal Banarsidass, Delhi : As recommended by the Central Sanskrit Board, M/s. Motilal Banarsidass, Delhi were entrusted with the task of reprinting nine important out-of-print Sanskrit works under the scheme against tenders. All the publications (mentioned below) were brought out by the firm in 1961 :—

1. Apte's Sanskrit-English Dictionary (20000 copies)
2. Apte's English-Sanskrit Dictionary (20000 copies)
8. Kathasaritsagar
4, Complete works of Shankaracharya (His Bhasya on Gita, 10 Upanisads and Brahmasutra)
5. Shabdakalpadruma
6. Concordance to Principal Upanishads and Bhagvadgita.
7. Siddantakaumudi with Vasu's English Commentary
8. Astadhyayi with Vasu's commentary.
9. Vyakarana Mahabhasya.

8. M/s. Chowkhamba Sanskrit Series Office, Varanasi : The firm, on the basis of tenders, brought out Tarkasangraha with 9 Sanskrit commentaries against financial assistance to the tune of Rs. 6,900 from the Government of India.

As mentioned before, the Government of India took action to reduce the price of Apte's English-Sanskrit Dictionary, Apte's Sanskrit-English Dictionary, Vyakarna Mahabhasya and complete Works of Shankaracharya to enable all Sanskrit students and scholars to purchase copies of these important Sanskrit publications. In some cases the Government encouraged the institutions for bringing out these books by purchasing 333 copies of each of them. This applies to the complete works of Shankaracharya, Sidhantakaumudi, Astadhyayi and Shabdakalpadruma.

As is apparent from the above, the scheme was meant to give a great fillip to all voluntary Sanskrit organisations including universities to bring out a number of these publications with the subsidy being given by the Government of India. Under the scheme, 50% of the approved expenditure on each book was given by the Government of India for printing out upto 1,000 copies thereof. The iustitutions were also expected to utilise the sale proceeds of the books printed by them under the scheme in further reprinting of such other out-of-print Sanskrit books as are (further) approved by the Government of India. The scheme, however, did not meet with the quick response and cooperation as was expected from the universities and other competent Sanskrit institutions, Out of the 18 universities and other 18 competent Sanskrit institutions negotiations could be finalised only with six Many of the univesities were, as the Ministry is told, barred due to the fact fact that they were unable to find the matching 50% of the expenditure on these books and they were also discouraged that these reprinted books were not likely to command a speedy sale. Thus out of the total number of 186 books, only 23 could finally be got assigned for reprinting and out of these also, only 16 books have seen the light of the day. The Central Sanskrit Board showed serious concern at this state of affairs and on its recommendation, the Ministry of Education & Social Welfare made an effort to increase the qnantum of financial assistance under the scheme to 75% of expenditure on each book from 50% decided earlier. The proposal to increase the percentage of Central contribution, however, did not find favour with the Mintstry of Finance.

Editing and Publication of Rare Manuscripts

The Sanskrit Commission had in its report observed that in the several libraries of the country a number of important Sanskrit rare manuscripts were lying neglected and unobserved. These were neither properly catalogued or preserved, nor any action was being taken to publish them. There were many important works among these manuscripts which needed immediate publication for helping several Sanskrit research projects in the country. The Commission noted with satisfaction that the Ministry of Education at the Centre had on its programme the publication of rare ancient texts. The Commission recommended that facilities should be made available to manuscript libraries, university Sanskrit departments, institutes of Sanskrit research and other agencies to bring out larger number of valuable texts still lying in the manuscripts in the different libraries and that for the purpose of ensuring the speedy publication of a large number of really valuable texts, an inventory, in order of priority, should be drawn up by scholars conversant with the manuscript material, of all works of value lying in different manuscript libraries, which deserve to be printed. It also desired that this inventory of valuable manuscripts should be made available to all agencies engaged in the work of bringing out editions of the texts. It also advised all official and non-official agencies bringing out series of Sanskrit texts to show greater discription in the matter of selection of texts to be included in such series, as well as ensure proper critical editing of those texts which require careful examination and collection of the available manuscript material and the preparation of the critical apparatus and the introduction.

The Ministry of Education thus framed a scheme for editing and publication of rare manuscripts. Under the scheme, all institutions engaged in the editing and publication of rare manuscripts pertaining to Sanskrit, Pali and Prakrit are eligible to apply for financial assistance for bringing out critical editions of rare manuscripts. The Government of India provides financial assistance, in regard to manscript approved, for editing and publication at the rate of Rs. 5/- per printed page of royal octavo size as editing charges and at 50% of the actual publication cost. The balance of 50% of printing expenditure has to be provided for by the institution from its own sources. The grant for editing is paid in two instalments. While the first instalment is paid in advance, the second one is paid on receipt of a certificate from the institution that the amount of grant already paid has been utilised. The Government of India also appointed a Board of Editors to approve requests for financial assistance for editing and publication of rare manuscripts under this scheme. This was later on replaced by the Publication Committee of the Central Sanskrit Board and now by the Vishesajna Samiti of the Kendriya Sanskrit Parishad. Normally, financial assistance for publication of 500 copies only is granted by the Government of India. The institution has also to supply 150 copies of the publication free of cost to the Government of India.

A critical edition under the scheme consists of (a) the text constituted by a critical and comparative study of the avilable manuscript material or other scripts of the original text setting forth the varied editions, (b) an introduction containing statement about the critical apparatus, (c) a discussion about the life and time of the author of the work and allied matters, (d) a critical evaluation of the text, and (e) the necessary appendices and indices.

During the Third Five Year Plan an amount of Rs. 2.04 lakhs was spent on this scheme which then included purchase of rare manuscripts also. The expenditure during 1964-65 and 1965-1966 was Rs. 0.53 lakh and Rs. 1.51 lakhs respetively. During 1965-66 an amount of Rs. 0.01 lakh was spent on purchase of rare manuscripts. During the years 1966-67 to 1968-69 the total expenditure on all scheme of production of Sanskrit literature was Rs. 9.82 lakhs. Against this, the amount spent on publication of rare manuscripts was Rs. 4.48 lakhs. The expenditure ranged from Rs. 1.36 lakhs during 1966-67 to Rs. 2.00 lakhs during 1967-68 and 1968-69. In 1967-68 an amount of Rs. 1.12 lakhs was spent against the budget estimates of Rs. 2.00 lakhs. During the Fourth Five Year Plan period an outlay of Rs. 20.00 lakhs has been proposed on all schemes of production of Sankrit literature including publcation of rare manuscripts. The year-wise expenditure on this scheme during 1969-70 and 1970-71 was Rs. 2.00 lakhs and Rs. 1.87 lakhs respectively as aganist the budget estimates of Rs. 2.00 lakhs for each of the two years. The corresponding figures for all schemes of production of Sankrit literature including this scheme was Rs. 4.52 lakhs during 1969-70 against the same bubget estimates and Rs. 3.87 lakhs during 1970-71 against the budget estimates of of Rs. 4.50 lakhs. The budget estimates for 1971-72, 1972-73 and 1973-74 for this scheme are Rs. 2.00 lakhs for each year against the total budget estimates of Rs. 4.70 lakhs Rs. 3.40 lakhs and Rs. 3.41 lakhs for these years respectively on all schemes of production of sanskrit literature.

Some of the important publications brought out under the scheme are as follows:—

1. Vishwesnwaranand Vedic Research Institute, Hoshiarpur.
   - i) Rigveda with unpublished commentaries
   - ii) Atharvaveda with unpublished commentaries

Compilation and publication of Catalogues of Sanskrit Manuscripts

The Sanskrit Commission had in its report expressed concern on the fact that several manuscripts lying in different Sanskrit libraries in the country were not properly catalogued and taken notice of either by the Institutes or by various research scholars. It recommended that the Government of India should give financial assistance to all Sanskrit institutions having Sanskrit manuscripts to compile and publish catalogues of those manuscripts. The Commission was, however, happy to observe that the Government Sanskrit College, Varanasi (now Varanaseya Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya) had already brought out a couple of volumes of Sanskrit catalogues of manuscripts on the special branches of Sanskrit.

In pursuance of the recommendations of the Sanskrit Commission, the Government of India, in consultation with the Central Sanskrit Board, drew up a scheme for grant of financial assistance to libraries and other institutions for compiling and publishing catalogues of manuscripts in their possession. Originally, under this scheme financial assistance was given in respect of Arabic and Persian manuscripts also by the Sanskrit Division in addition to the manuscripts in Sanskrit, Pali and Prakrit.

The institutions bringing out the catalogues under the scheme are given financial assistance at the rate of Rs. 2/- per manuscript or codex included in the catalogue or the actual expenditure incurred, whichever is less. The Insttiutes are also asked to get the manuscripts printed in royal octavo size on durable paper and to bring out not more than 500 copies of the catalogue unless otherwise approved by the Government of India. The institutions are also required to provide 150 copies of the printed catalogues free of cost to the Government of India for onward distribution to selected libraries and Indological institutions. The grants under the scheme are paid in two instalments, the first one as an advance and the second instalment after a certification by the institutions that the first instalment has been utilised. All catalogues under this scheme are required to be published in a tabular form containing (1) Serial No. and subject, (2) Library accession or collection number, (3) Title of work, (4) Name of author, (5) Name of commentator, (6) Material or substance, (7) Script, (8) Size, number of folios or leaves ; lines per page and number of letters per line, (9) Extent, (10) Condition of the manuscript and age, and (11) Additional particulars.

Some of the important Sanskrit organisations and libraries which have brought out catalogues of Sanskrit manuscripts under the scheme are as follows :—

1. Gujarat Vidya Sabha ... 2 Volumes
2. Akhil Bharatiya Sanskrit Parishad, Lucknow ... 1 Volume
3. Rajasthan Oriental Research Institute, Jodhpur ... 2 Volumes
4. Sanskrit Academy, Osmania University ... 1 Volume
5. Prajna Pathashala Mandal, Vai ... 2 Volumes
6. L.D. Institute of Indology, Ahmedabad ... 4 Volumes
7. Ganganath Jha Rsearch Institute, Allahabad ... 2 Volumes
8. Hindi Sahitya Sammelan, Prayag ... 1 Volume
9. Adyar Library and Research Centre, Madras ... 2 Volumes
10. Deccan College, Poona ... 3 Volumes
11. Asiatic Society, Calcutta ... 1 Volume

Funds for this scheme are provided from the scheme of publication of rare manuscripts. The details of the financial aspects are given under that heading.

Purchase of Copies of Books Pertaining to Sanskrit Language and Literature

Sankrit language, though still studied in the country by numerous students, is not able to provide, by itself, means of livelihood to them. Thus these students are interested only in their text-books and cannot be expected to purchase other books pertaining to the Sanskrit language and literature. Moreover, the financial difficulty faced by all Sanskrit organisations in the country does not allow them to purchase copies of all Sanskrit books published in India for their libraries. This has a discouraging effect on the publication of Sanskrit books. The publishers are aware that Sanskrit books, however important, are not to find an easy way in the market. This deters them from bringing out important Sanskrit works unless they are assured of public or Government patronage. The Government of India, therefore, made out a scheme of purchase of books pertaining to Sanskrit language and Literature with a view to encouraging individuals and publishers in bringing out Sanskrit publications. Under this scheme generally up to 100 copies of publications brought out by the individuals, organisations and commercial publishers are purchased by the Government of India in consultation with the Central Sanskrit Board (now Kendriya Sanskrit Parishad). In some special cases, however, more copies of publications are also purchased according to the merits of the case. That the scheme has been very popular is proved from the fact that the number of books purchased under the scheme has constantly increased from the year 1961-62. The amount spent in purchasing copies of the Sanskrit books also rose to Rs. 0.95 lakn during 1970-71 from Rs. 0.34 lakh during 1961-62.

The expenditure on the purchase of books under this scheme is met from the funds allotted for production of Sanskrit literature including reprinting of out-of-print books and assistance to Sanskrit Jouruals. During 1961-62, an amount of Rs. 0.87 lakh was spent on the production of Sanskrit literature. Against this, the amount spent on purchase of Sanskrit books was Rs. 0.34 lakh during 1961-62. During 1962-63, out of an expenditure of Rs. 1.95 lakhs on the production of Sanskrit literature (against the budget estimates of Rs. 1.64 lakhs), Rs. 1.06 lakhs was spent on purchase of copies of Sanskrit publications. The amount spent on this account during 1963-64, 1964-65 and 1965-66 was Rs. 0.93 lakh, Rs. 0.95 lakh and Rs. 0.86 lakh respectively. During the years 1967-67 to 1968-69, an amount of Rs. 3.62 lakhs was spent on this scheme against the total expenditure of Rs. 9.82 lakhs on all schemes of production of Sanskrit literature. The yearwise expenditure was Rs. 1.37 lakhs in 1966-67, Rs. 0.99 lakh in 1967-68 and Rs. 1.26 lakhs in 1968-69. During the first two years of the Fourth Five Year Plan, an amount of Rs. 1.55 lakhs has been spent on this item against the total expenditure of Rs. 8.39 lakhs on all schemes of production of Sanskrit literature. The yearwise expenditure was Rs. 0.60 lakh during 1969-70 against Rs. 4.52 lakhs spent on all schemes of production of Sanskrit literature and Rs. 0.95 lakh during 1970-71 against Rs. 3.87 lakhs spent on all schemes of production of Sanskrit literature.

Sanskrit Journals

That the Sanskrit as a classical language of India is still as important as all of her present day living languages, has already been described before. The endeavour of the country in keeping up Sanskrit as a living language is also explicit in the publication of journals from different parts of the country. In its report submitted in 1957, the Sanskrit Commission had come across about 20 Sanskrit journals published in India. The Commission observed that the Sanskrit journals had played a valuable role in making Sanskrit a live medium of expression of contemporary thought and of discussion of current problems and in infusing new life into that language. It found that due to the existence of these journals a straight, simple and expressive prose style had grown in Sanskrit. However, these journals published by the enthusiasts of Sanskrit were mostly run at a loss. The commission, therefore, recommended that the quality and content of the Sanskrit journals should be such as could invite the immediate attention of the people and make them feel inclined to read them just for the pleasure of it. It suggested that the Central Government should help the organisations or individuals bringing out these journals either by making all State institutions and universities with humanistic subjects subscribe to these journals or to extend some assistance to some select representative Sanskrit journals of standing and standard.

The recommendation of the Sanskrit Commission was approved by the Government of India in consultation with the Central Sanskrit Board and it was decided to help important Sanskrit journals by extending to them financial assistance to improve their quality and content. Funds for this purpose were found out from the scheme of grant of financial assistance for production of Sanskrit literature. As a result of incentives from the Government of India, the number of Sanskrit journals began increasing and a definite progressive improvement was also apparent as far as the production side as well as the reading material of these journals was concerned.

During 1970-71 two Sanskrit dailies, two weeklies, two fortnightlies, 27 monthlies, 8 quarterlies, 5 halfyearlies and 7 yearlies were being publtshed with the financial assistance of the Government of India. A list of these journals is enelosed in the appendix 27. The very existence of two Sanskrit dailies of which one has a circulation of over 20,000 should be convincing to any non-believer who is not sure of the real importance and position of Sanskrit in this country.

Development of Ayurveda

Sanskrit has made an important contribution to the Ayurveda which had attained an advanced stage of research in the contents side of the medicine as well as the expression side of the language in which the medical treatises were written. Very often, we come across identical and poetic language expressions in the medical treatises. It is, therefore, difficult to separate the evolution of Ayurveda from the Sanskrit language and literature. It was, therefore, apt that the Sanskrit Commission also took note of the Ayurvedic studies and recommened that the universities should set up departments of research in Ayurveda, that text-books for the Ayurvedic students should be prepared in Sanskrit so that they might be used all over India and that knowledge of Sanskrit should be considered a pre-requisite for all students going in for Ayurveda. The Commission even went to the extent of suggesting setting up of an All India Council of Indigenous Medical Systems.

The Ministry of Education & Social Welfare has been in constant touch with the Indian System of Medicine, Ministry of Health regarding productlon of Ayurvedic literature in Sanskrit. The Ministry of Education has also helped publication of some Ayurvedic books in Sanskrit, including Ashtanga Hridayam, under its scheme of grant of financial assistance for publication of Sanskrit works. The Central Council of Ayurvedic Research published a book 'Ayurvediya Oshadhi Nighantu' consisting of 1,228 pages by Thayyik Kumaran Krishnan in 1966. The Council has now been replaced by another body named Central Council for Research in Indian Medicine & Homoeopathy.

The Council has set up several Units in different States which take to publication of Ayurvedic literature in Sanskrit.

The Institute of History of Medicine, Hyderabad has sanctioned the following three books for publication :—

1. Charucharya of Bhoja
2. Catalogue of Ayurvedic Manuscripts in India
3. Museum Guide

The Literary Research Unit at Thanjaur has also edited more than ten manuscripts and the following works have been approved for publication :

1. Bhela Samhita of Bhelacharya
2. Bhesaja Kalpam
3. Therayer Sekarappa — Sanskrit translation of Siddha Tamil work
4. Siddhar Kayakalpam — Sanskrit translation of Siddha Tamil work
5. Therar Muttrapariksha — Sanskrit translation of Siddha Tamil work

The Literary Research Unit at Varanaseya Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya, Varanasi has edited a manuscript on Kashyapa Samhita which is under consideration of the Council for publication.

The All India Sanskrit Elocution Contests

Among all the disciplines of education, on of the sure methods to encourage more and more people for achieving greater proficiency in the discipline concerned is holding of public contests of various natures. It was for this purpose that conferences, gosthies, sabhas, sammelans, etc. were held since time past. This custom is still being continued—though not with as much eclat and enthusiasm as before. In the pre-independence India, the rulers of different States used to hold such contests which proved a great encouragement to Sanskrit scholars, young and old. This duty now devolves on the State. The Sanskrit Commission had recommended that the Government of India should hold gatherings to keep alive the interest of the Sanskrit scholars and inspire them to fresh lines of literary activity as well as to attain greater proficiency in the various fields.

The Central Sanskrit Board also recommended (July, 1961) that a centralised scheme for holding elocution contests for the students of Sanskrit on an all India basis should be formulated and implemented. The Board desired that an all India Sanskrit Elocution Contest should be held each year in different parts of the country so as to arouse interest of the students and scholars in the different regions. Besides the elocution contest, participants take part in Antyakshari and Samasyapurti competitions also.

The elocution contest along with the two other compe titions has thus been held every year after 1962. Each State/Union Territory is requested to send a team of 6 students led by a teacher. The topic on which the students have to speak is disclosed to them about 24 hours before the contest. The subjects in which the contest is held are Vedanta, Sahitya, Mimansa, Nyaya-Vaisheshika, Vayakarana and Sankhya-yoga. The first three speakers in each of these subjects are awarded cash prizes of Rs. 150.00, Rs. 75.00 and Rs. 50.00 and silver cups. A running shield is also awarded to the State whose team shows the best performance. As usual, after winning the shield for three consecutive years, the recipient becomes the owner of the Shield.

So far, the contests have been held at Ujjain (1962 and 1963), Varanasi (1964), Darbhanga (1965), Delhi (1966), Udaipur (1967), Bangalore (1968), Delhi (1969) and Poona (1970). Except for 1964 when the shield was won by the Mysore team, the team of Uttar Pradesh had been the winner in all the contests.

While the elocution contest inculcates among the students a tendency to speak in Sanskrit, the Samasyapurti competition inspires them to compose poems and the Antyakshari competition encourages them to sharpen their memory which is an acclaimed virtue for any Sanskrit scholar. Besides cultivating oratorical, poetic and literary talents, these contests also give an opportunity to the teachers, students and other scholars of Sanskrit belonging to the various parts of the country to meet once a year and exchange notes.

In 1969 and 1970, the participants were invited to speak extempore on the following topics under different fields of Sanskrit:-

Descipline	Topic for 1969	Topic for1970
1. Literature	शान्तोऽपि नवमो रसः।	काव्यस्यात्मा ।
2. Grammar	कृत्तद्धितसमासश्च ।	शब्दशक्तिः ।
3. Sankhya-Yoga	पुरुषबहुत्वं सिद्धम् ।	ईश्वरः ।
4. Mimansa	मन्त्रा अनर्थकाः सार्थका वा ।	भावना ।
5. Vedanta	लोकवत्तु लीलाकैवल्यम् ।	अध्यासः ।
6. Nyaya	अनुमानस्वरूपम् ।	शब्दशक्तिः ।

In the Samasyapurti competitions held in 1969 and 1970 the following entries, given below for the interest of readers, were adjudged best:-

1969

दिल्ली ग्रामे शीतमत्यन्तमेव, भानुर्जातो निष्प्रभस्तत्र शीतात्।
चण्डांशुर्यो जात एवं हिमांशुः, प्रातस्तस्मान्मुञ्चतीवाश्रुजालम्॥

(Ram Dimble)

1970

गुरो हि कार्याय सदा महोदधौ पदं क्षिपाम्यत्र न दुःखमस्ति मे।
अतश्च कुम्भोदर! रुद्रकिंकर! दयाब्धिबन्धो! न वयं पिपासवः॥

(Aniruddha Prasad, Tripathi)

The allocation of funds to meet the expenditure on holding these contests comes from the expenditure earmarked for implementation of miscellaneous recommendations of the Sanskrit Parishad including expenditure on the meetings of the Parishad and on these contests. The expenditure on these accounts together was Rs. 0.95. lakh during the Third Five Year Plan period. The expenditure for the years 1961-62 to 64-65 was Rs.0.12 lakh (1961-62), Rs.0.25 lakh (1962-63), Rs. 0.20 lakh (1963-64) and Rs. 0.26 lakh (1964-65). During the period from 1966-67 to 68-69, the expenditure on both these accounts was Rs. 0.81 lakh. In 1970, an amount of Rs.13,000 was spent on holding the contest at Poona.

Seminars, Conventions and Conferences

The Sanskrit Commission has emphasised the importance of Seminars, Extension Lectures, etc. for the purpose of providing a great stimulus to investigations of specific problems and major themes. It had noted that many important Sanskrit publications of Indian universities related to lectures such as Wilson's Philological Lectures (Bombay University), Sir William Meger's Lectures (Madras University) and Tagore Law Lectures (Calcutta University). It also recommended the use of Seminars, for Seminar is much smaller than a Conference and more concentrated because it has a single theme and a selected group of participants. The Commission also recommended encouraging study groups, establishment of Sanskrit Associations, Sabhas etc., celebration of days in commemoration of important Sanskit writers ond works, literary conferences, Sanskrit debates and Sanskrit dramas.

The Government of India gave grants to several voluntary Sanskrit organisations for organising Sanskrit festivals like Kalidasa Day, Valmiki Diwas and Seminars of various natures. Financial assistance for celebrating such occassions was granted to the institutions under the Ministry's scheme of grant of financial assistance to voluntary Sanskrit organitions.

Vedic Conventions

As part of Ministry's participation in Sanskrit Day Celebrations Vedic conventions have been held twice till now. The Vedic Convention held in August, 1969 was inaugurated by Prof. V. K. R. V. Rao, the then Minister of Education under the chairmanship of Shri Bhakt Darshan, the then Minister of State for Education. About 75 Vedic scholars from all over the conntry participated in the Convention. Another Convention was held in December, 1970 where also 75 Vedic scholars participated.

Meeting of Representatives of various State Governments :

A meeting of State representatives was held in September, 1964 in order to discuss various problems pertaining to Sanskrit education in India, The meeting recommended establishment of separate Directorates of Sanskrit in each State. Classification of traditional type of Sanskrit organisation on the basis of the various stages of education, i. e. whether they impart education upto Madhyama, Shastri or Acharya standard. It was also decided that the Sanskrit teachers employed in the traditional Sanskrit pathashalas should also get the same pay-scales as obtainable in the States concerned for similar teachers for other subjects in Government schools or colleges. There was no cause for disparity between the pay-scales of Sanskrit teachers possessing traditional degrees and of those possessing the equivalent degrees in the modern educational set-up. The representatives also recommended that special pay should be granted to outstanding Sanskrit teachers serving in various Sanskrit pathashalas,

Meeting of State Officers-in-charge of Sanskrit Education :

A meeting of State Officers in-charge of Sanskrit education was held in September, 1971. In the meeting, various matters pertaining to the procedure for payment of grants to voluntary Sanskrit organisations were considered and it was recommended that there should be coordination between the Centre and the State level in grant of financial assistance to the voluntary Sanskrit organisations. It was also decided to explore the possibility of providing scholarships right from Parthama to Acharya level in the centrally sponsored sector on the lines of secondary school scholarships being provided from the Second Five Year Plan. The recommendation made in the meeting of the representatives of the State Governments regarding setting up separate Directorates of Sanskrit was also reiterated. The State Governments were requested to set up such Directorates on the lines of the Sanskrit Directorate set up by the Government of Rajasthan. It was also recommended that the Reorganised Scheme of Sanskrit Education as approved by the Kendriya Sanskrit parishad should be adopted throughout the country in order to achieve an absolute uniformity in the standards, nomenclature and duration of Sanskrit examinations. It was also recommended that each State Government should select one district in their respective territory for an intensive study of the present position of Sanskrit education on the lines of intensive District Educational Development Project.

Short-Term Course in Methodology of Sanskrit Research:

On the advice of the Central Sanskrit Board, the Government of India sanctioned a project for the institution of a short term course in Methodology of Sanskrit Research for Sanskrit scholars trained on traditional lines. The first such course was held at the Deccan College Postgraduate and Research Institute, Poona. Ten selected scholars received training in the course held during January -April, 1965.

All India Sanskrit Elocution Contest :

As recommended by the Central Sanskrit Board, as also by the Sanskrit Commission, the Government of India has been holding every year an All India Sanskrit Elocution Contest including Antyakshari and Samasyapurti competitions since November, 1962. Sanskrit students trained on tradisional lines participated in in these contests So far nine contests have been held under this scheme. The details of this scheme are given on pages 77-79.

International Sanskrit Conference :

The resolution to hold an International Sanskrit Conference at New Delhi was moved by Prof. V.K.R.V. Rao, the then Minister of Education and was accepted by the Central Conference of the UNESCO, held in Paris in October-November, 1970. Delegates from all over the world are expected to attend this Conference which is being held from 26th to 31st March 1972.

Financial Assistance to Eminent Sanskrit Pandits in Indigent Circumstances

During the last decades, the study of Sanskrit has been a cultural study. In many cases, it still is. In such cases where even a minimum material return is not ensured either to the teacher or to the student, patronage of such a study by the State is essential. In the olden days also, scholarship and skill in the arts and crafts have always, and in all countries, been depending on royal, State or public support. The people who took to Sanskrit studies had a dedication born of their own will. They were self-denying as far as material gain was concerned. To repay the Vidya Rina, they, as their sacred duty, established institutions and sacrificed worldly properties to teach this sacred language to their students. It is clear that this ensured neither gratuity nor any other means of livelihood to these torch-bearers of the culture of this country after they sought voluntary retirement from the institution due to excessive old age. During the period of their active service also, they accepted only the minimum for their livelihood. No Department of Social Welfare was there to take care of them. However, in the good old days, the public was generous to the self-denying pandits and it saw that those pandits got their bread with the respect due to them. With the so-called advancement of the society, public respect and regard for these pandits weaned away. There are, however, thousands of Sanskrit institutions in the country where the teachers are engaged in teaching Sanskrit irrespective of, and knowing fully, the fact that after their retirement, there will be nothing to sustain them as well as their family. The Sanskrit Commission had, therefore, recommended that these pandits who have distinguished themselves in some special branches of study should receive some recognition and help from the Government. The Commission reported "There are many such pandits who are now above 50 and who, not being attached to any salaried posts in public institutions, eke out a precarious existence by means of private teaching. Each State should select the more eminent among them, respected and esteemed by the people for their learning and character, and grant them a pension for life at least of Rs.100 per month."

The recommendation was accepted by the Government of India. A scheme of grant of financial assistance to the eminent pandits in indigent circumstances was prepared in consultation with the Central Sanskrit Board and it was decided to pay Rs. 1,800 per annum minus the personal income of the pandit provided the recipient has attained the age of 55 years, is considered to be an eminent traditional Sanskrit scholar and is actually in indigent circumstances. The dependants of the recipient may also continue to draw the allowance for the unexpired portion of the sanctioned term on the death of the recipient under certain circumstances. The educational eminence and the actual income of the pandits are verified in each case by the District Collector concerned. All requests for financial assistance under this scheme were in the first instance considered by the Central Sanskrit Board with the help of a Sub-Committee and the grants were released by the Government of India according to the recommendations made by the Board. As already mentioned before, this is one of the schemes included under our centrally sponsored schemes for development of Sanskrit. Grants are, therefore, released to the State Governments for onward distribution to the recipients. Financial assistance under the scheme was provided with effect from 1964-65 when out of Rs. 4.42 lakhs under our centrally sponsored schemes, an amount of Rs. 1.29 lakhs was spent on this account. This expenditure rose to Rs. 2.60 lakhs in 1965-66 as against the total expenditure of Rs. 7.70 lakhs under all centrally sponsored schemes. In 1968-69, the expenditure was Rs. 4.44 lakhs as against Rs. 9.00 lakhs all on schemes. An outlay of Rs.65.00 lakhs has been proposed for the Fourth Five Year Plan period for all centrally sponsored schemes including this scheme. In 1969-70 and 1970-71, against the total expenditure of Rs. 11.25 lakhs and Rs. 12 00 lakhs on all centrally sponsored schemes, the expenditure on grant of financial assistance to eminent Sanskrit pandits was Rs. 5.20 lakhs and Rs. 6.60 lakhs respectively.

As this scheme is a continuing scheme and fresh applications are invited every year, the number of recipients has increased progressively each year. During 1971-72, 56 more pandits have been selected for grant of financial assistance under this scheme. Uptill 1970-71, the number of recipients according to each State was as follows : Andhra Pradesh 32, Assam 8, Bihar 57, Gujarat 4, Haryana 5, Himachal Pradesh 1, Jammu & Kashmir 3, Kerala 61, Madhya Pradesh 7, Maharashtra 20, Mysore 39, Orissa 14, Punjab 5, Rajasthan 10, Tamil Nadu 116, Uttar Pradesh 51, West Bengal 106, Tripura 17, Delhi 7, Goa 1 and Manipur 3 (Total 567).

Financial Assistance to State Governments for Promotion of Sanskrit

It would be recalled that while, according to the Constitution of India, higher education and research is a Central subject, general education is a State subject. There are thus several facets of Sanskrit education which come within the scope of State Governments and wherefor the Central Government cannot take a direct responsibility. In such cases, it is always better for the Central Government to extend the necessary financial assistance to the various State Governments for implementing their own schemes of promotion of Sanskrit. The State Governments are fully authorised to spend the assistance on any of the purposes selected by them during particular financial year(s). The purpose may be to raise the scale of pay of Sanskrit teachers, holding of conventions and award of other incentives to students, scholars and institutions, etc. The Central Government, therefore, under its centrally sponsored schemes for assistance to State Governments for promotion of Sanskrit, each year releases the budgetary allocation to different State Governments for utilisation in implementing their own schemes. This omnibus scheme thus gives an opportunity to the State Governments to formulate and implement the schemes for promotion of Sanskrit at their own initiative with the help of their agencies. Such of their schemes as are approved by the Government of India are financed on 100% basis by the latter.

Grants under this scheme are being released to the State Governments since 1964-65 when an amount of Rs. 0.96 lakh was distributed to the various State Governments. In 1965-66, this rose by Rs. 1.37 lakhs, thus bringing it to a total of Rs. 2.33 lakhs as compared to the total expenditure of Rs. 13.16 lakhs under the centrally sponsored schemes during the (last two years of) Third Five Year Plan. During the years from 1966-67 to 1968-69, the amount spent under the centrally sponsored schemes rose to Rs. 22.57 lakhs, i.e., more than Rs. 9.00 lakhs than the amount spent during the Third Five Year Plan. In 1968-69, the amount spent in implementing this scheme was Rs. 1.20 lakhs as compared to the total of Rs. 9.00 lakhs spent under all centrally sponsored schemes during that year. The amount granted to the State Governments during the year ranged from Rs. 3,600 (Tamilnadu) to Rs. 72,400 (Andhra Pradesh). Out of an outlay of Rs. 65.00 lakhs for the total Fourth Five Year Plan, an amount of Rs. 2.27 lakhs was spent on this scheme during 1969-70 as compared to the total amount of Rs. 11.25 lakhs on all centrally sponsored schemes during the year. The amount of grants to the individual States ranged from Rs. 3,600 (Tamilnadu) to Rs. 81,750 (Orissa). During 1970-71, the amount spent on this scheme out of a total expenditure of Rs. 12.00 lakhs on all centrally sponsored schemes was Rs. 2.06 lakhs. Among the States, the expenditure ranged from Rs. 3,600 (Tamilnadu) to Rs. 51,750 (Orissa).

The Sanskrit Division

The schemes for propagation and development of Sanskrit were being dealt with by the C. IV Section of the Ministry of Education prior to the appointment of the Sanskrit Commission in 1956. Posts of one Assistant and one L.D.C. were sanctioned for doing the work relating to the Sanskrit Commission as also other allied work. After receipt of the report of the Commission in 1957, more staff was needed to take the following action on the report :—

(a) to examine the proposals and suggest those which were acceptable to the Government ;

(b) to analyse as to which proposals were fit to be implemented by the State Governments either entirely or partly from their own sources ;

(c) to study the public opinion on the report as revealed in the press and as pouring in the Ministry of Education ; and

(d) to decide on the various authorities whose opinion was to be invited on the particular recommendations of the Commission.

Besides, action was also necessary for getting the report published.

A post of Assistant Education Officer (Sanskrit) was accordingly created with effect from 1st May, 1958 and one Assistant Education Officer of the Ministry (who had already been appointea in the Hindi Division and who had worked as Assistant Seeretary to the Sanskrit Commission) was transferred to join this new post. This post was initially sanctioned for three months only. Thus the Sanskrit Unit was initially having one A.E.O., one Assistant and one L.D.C. It was thereafter felt that even after the recommendations were examined, it was to take quite a long time to implement them. Information was to be collected from all State Governments, universities and various other Ministries of the Government of India on all recommendations of the Sanskrit Commission. Replies received from these sources were to be consolidated. Moreover, besides the work relating to the Sanskrit Commission proper, other work relating to the propagation and development of Sanskrit was also transferred from C. IV Section to the Sanskrit Unit under the overall charge of the Hindi Division. Thus at this stage, it was felt that a full Section was required to undertake the work. It was also felt that after the analysis of all informations received, it was more appropriate to have a Section Officer in the Unit instead of the A.E.O. The post of A.E.O. was thus abolished and instead a post of Section Officer was created with effect from the 14th August, 1958 for three months. The Sanskrit Unit then consolidated and coordinated replies and comments of all recommendations made by the Sanskrit Commission leading to the implementation stage. A post of Special Officer (Sanskrit) was thereupon created to implement the recommendations and the first incumbent of this post joined the Ministry in January, 1960. The Special Officer (Sanskrit), however, found that it was impossible for him to handle all schemes independently without any technical assistance from a junior officer. Besides, some additional schemes were also to be implemented during 1960-61 as under :—

1. Award of 50 research scholarships to Sanskrit pandits coming out of traditional Sanskrit pathasalas;
2. Publication of about 100 out-of-print Sanskrit classics:
3. Financial assistance to Sanskrit books and journals;
4. Publication of modern Sanskrit primers and text-books to made the study of Sanskrit easy ; and
5. Preliminary work for setting up the Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha.

The Special Officer (Sanskrit), therefore, asked for more staff including an Education Officer to help him in all technical matters. The proposal, however, boiled down to creation of one post of A.E.O.

In 1970, a post of Officer-on-Special Duty (Sanskrit) was created in the Ministry in order to cope up with the continuously increasing work relating to the various schemes taken up by the Government of India for development and propagation of Sanskrit. Meanwhile, the budget for Sanskrit also rose up from 0.75 lakh during the Second Five Year Plan to Rs. 2.75 crores for the Fourth Five Year Plan. A Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan was also to be created in 1971 and 4 more important Sanskrit Institutes were also to be taken up by the Government of India to be run as Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeethas. One more Section was thus created in the Ministry for handling the work relating to propagation and development of Sanskrit under a newly created post of Education Officer (Sanskrit).

The present staff of the Sanskrit Division is now as under :—

PART II

POSITION OF SANSKRIT IN THE STATES

Position of Sanskrit in the States

The Sanskrit Commission had in its report made a survey of the position of Sanskrit in the traditional Sanskrit pathashalas, the secondary schools, colleges and Universities research institutes, etc. It was found that there was a large number of Sanskrit institutions in every State. In Uttar Pradesh alone, there were 1,318 pathashalas. In West Bengal, there were about 1,230 tols. In Bihar, Orissa and Kerala, the number of Sanskrit pathashalas was 365, 146 and 47 respectively. In Bombay and Madhya Pradesh, the number of pathashalas was 150 and 112 respectively. Rajasthan had 110 pathashalas while Punjab had 285 pathashalas. The Commission, however, found that the number of Sanskrit schools as well as that of the students was fast dwindling. For example, while in 1920, the number of pathashalas in Punjab was 285, in 1956 only 35 pathashalas were functioning.

The State Governments were also keen to keep this system of Sanskrit education alive by several means. Several Committees were appointed by the State Governments for improvement of the position of Sanskrit in pathashalas and elsewhere The Uttar Pradesh Government appointed in 1938 a Sanskrit College Syllabus Revision Committee. In its report submitted in 1941, the Committee recommended that a higher research degree, viz. Vachaspati, should be instituted after the Acharya degree. It also recommended teaching of special subjects like Nirukta Prakriya, Yajnika Prakriya, Rajashastra including Arthshastra, Buddhistic Philosophy, Astronomy, etc. It also suggested preparation of proper text-books in Sanskrit. In 1950, the Sanskrit Pathashala Reorganisation Committee, appointed by the Uttar Pradesh Government in 1947, submitted its report on the reorganisation of Sanskrit pathashalas. It recommended that syllabus of the pathashalas should be modified to include subjects like Agriculture, Shorthand, Typewriting, Printing, etc. with a view to revitalising the Sanskrit education. The Government of Bihar also appointed a Committee, viz. the Sanskrit Reorganisation Committee in 1939. It upheld the old tradition of the Shastras and recommended scholarships to students taking higher courses of education. The Sanskrit Education Committee appointed by the West Bengal in 1948 pleaded for the expansion and reformation of the tols. It also recommended literary pension for old and infirm pandits. It suggested that the holders of Tirtha titles should be treated at par with B.A. degree-holders. Similarly, the Government or Madras, Mysore, Maharashtra, Punjab, Madhya pradesh and Rajasthan also appointed different Committees for making recommendations on various facets of Sanskrit education,

In the following pages, an attempt, has been made to review the position of Sanskrit in the States. This includes informatiou on the institutions imparting post-graduate Sanskrit education, institutions carrying out Indological research, important publishers of Sanskrit books, important Sanskrit libraries and other important Sanskrit institutions, where traditional Sanskrit education is being imparted.

Andhra Pradesh :

Facilities for Indological research in the Andhra Pradesh State are available in the Andhra University College of Arts, Commerce and law, and the Kendriya Sanskrit Vidhyapeetha, Tirupati. In the Shri Venkateshwar University, Tirupati, Sanskrit has been prescribed as one of the compulsory subjects for Telugu M.A. examinations. In the Dr. V. S. Krishnan Memorial Library of the Andhra University, there are a large number of Sanskrit mauuscripts and published books. The Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha, Tirupati, run by the Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan under the auspices of the Government of India, conducts teachers training courses for the students ef traditional Sanskrit pathashalas, besides conductidg research in the specialised branches of Sanskrit like Nyaya, Vyakaran, etc. The Vidyapeetha has a full-fledged library possessing over 17,000 books and 3,000 manuscripts It also imparts traditional Sanskrit education like Shastri courses and has also embarked on a comprehensive project of various Agama Koshas. The Vidyapeetha has also published Sanskrit books of high literary order.

Assam

The Govt. of Assam, with a view to re-organising the Sanskrit Education in the State, has adopted a scheme called the "Scheme of Re-Organisation of Sanskrit Education in the State." The Scheme has been implemented since January, 1964.

The Scheme started with a total allocation of Rs. 5.00 lakhs for the Third Plan period and the proposed provision for the Fourth Plan period is Rs. 18:80 lakhs.

So far, 50 Tols(Pathashalas) have been taken over under the scheme and a Government Sanskrit College established at Gauhati. Each of the tols is provided with two pandits and a non-classical teacher (graduate) who is to teach a course of modern subjects. Apart from the re-organised tols as envisaged in the scheme there are a number of voluntary organisations (private tols) which are granted aids ranging from Rs. 30.00 p.m. to Rs. 50.00 p.m.

The pay-scale for the teachers of the re-organised tols is Rs. 200-500 plus other allowances. The teachers of the voluntary organisations functioning under the State aid, have their remunerations fixed by the local management according to their means. Sanskrit teachers in High schools enjoy the same pay-scales as are drawn by the teachers of other subjects.

Sanskrit is not a compulsory subject in the School curricula and hence, it has no place in the Three-Language Formula. Sanskrit is also taught upto M.A. Degree in the University of Gauhati. There is, however, no provision for teaching Sanskrit in post-graduate level in the Dibrugarh University.

The Assam Sanskrit Board is both the examining and affiliating body for the traditional Sanskrit education in the State.

There are three stages of examinations, viz., Adya, Madhya and Upadhi (Title) under the old course so far obtaining in the State. These are gradually being replaced in a phased manner by new examinations under the revised scheme, viz., Praveshika, Madhyama and Shastri each of two years duration. There is no recognised equivalence of these examinations under the general educational set-up. Only the Upadhi-passed are held equivalent to the university graduates in their appointments as Sanskrit teachers in a High or Higher Secondary School.

There are two good Sanskrit libraries in the State, viz., the Kamrup Sanjivani Sabha Library and Nalbari Sanskrit College Library.

There are about fifty notable institutions (tols) in the State of Assam and Meghalaya, where traditional Sanskrit education is imparted and their names are as follows :—

1. Damodardham Dhireshwar Vidyalaya, P.O. Aghzaria, Kamrup.

2. Girish Vidyapeetha, P.O. Anandabazar, Distt. Kamrup.
3. Suryya Kumar Tarka Saraswati, Chatuspathi P.O. Silchar, Cachar.

Bihar

There are two different systems of Sanskrit Education in the State of Bihar, namely the old traditional system, called Prachina Paddhati and the modernised system called Navina Padhati. The system of modern Sanskrit education is being followed in Bihar in the Sanskrit High Schools. There are 275 non-Government Sanskrit tols (pathashalas) which are teaching the students through traditional methods (Prachina Paddhati). Besides this, there are 43 Sanskrit Colleges imparting instruction. In some of them even modern subjects are being taught. About 110 recognised Sanskrit High Schools are imparting education upto Navina Madhyama standard. Out of these, 17 are Government Sanskrit High Schools and the rest are under the management of local bodies financed by the State Government. There are 39 non-Government Sanskrit Colleges and 4 Government Sanskrit Colleges situated at each divisional headquarter of the State.

The State Government of Bihar have decided the equivalence of the degrees and diplomas of the former Bihar Sanskrit Association and of the Kameshwar Singh Darbhanga Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya in terms of the degrees and diplomas of the Bihar School Examination Board aud the different examinations of the general universities of the State. The overall control and superintendence of the Sanskrit High Schools is exercised by the Board of Sanskrit Education and the K. S. D. S. Vishwavidyalaya exercising control and superintendence over the Sanskrit tols and Mahavidyalayas. Prathama examination of Navina and Prachina system is conducted by the Board of Sanskrit Education and all other examinations are conducted by the K.S.D.S. Vishwavidyalaya.

The State Government spends nearly a sum of Rs. 15.00 lakhs on the Government and non-Government Sanskrit High Schools and Rs. 17.00 lakhs on the K.S.D.S. Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya, non-Government Sanskrit tols and colleges and Government Sanskrit Colleges. Besides these institutions, there is an Institute of Higher Learning and Research located at Darbhanga.

The State Government has introduced the teaching of science in Sanskrit High Schools, for which grants are being paid to the non-Government Sanskrit High Schools for payment to teachers and purchase of scientific enqipments. Besides, the State Government has initiated schems for strenghthening the recognised non-Government Sanskrit High Schools of the State.

The three language formula of the State consists of the following languages :—

(1) Mother tongue, (2) English and (3) Hindi for Hindi speaking pupils and any modern Indian language for non-Hindi pupils. To begin with the number of modern Indian languages have been limited. Sanskrit being mainly a classical language, and not the one of every day use, has not been included in the three-language formula. There is provision for special incentives, for studying Sanskrit by making it an extra paper for secondary/higher secondary examinations. Marks obtained in this paper less 30 are credited to the aggregate as additional marks for determining the place in merit list. Thus about 80% pupils are actually offering Sanskrit.

As narrated above, Sanskrit institutions imparting instruction according to the Prachina Paddhati are called Sanskrit tols and Sanskrit Mahavidyalayas. There are 275 Sanskrit tols and 43 Mahavidalayas affiliated to the K.S.D.S. Vishwavidalaya. These institutions are imparting instruction from the Prathama to Acharya standards. Every institution is managed by its managing committee. These institutions were formerly run by the Zamindars and after the abolition the Zamindari, these sources of income have dried up. This ststem of eduction is free and they depend on the State Government for all sorts of help. From the point of view of competitive employment, Sanskrit education specially of the Prachina Paddhati is not proving very popular.

There is a separate department in the State for looking after the administration of Sanskrit education,

The following are the names of institutions in the state where provision for post-graduate Sanskrit education is available :—

1. Mithila Research Institute, Darbhanga.
2. L.S. College, Muzaffarpur.
3. Patna University, Patna.
4. Bihar University Muzaffarpur.
6. Magdh University, Bodh-Gaya.
6. Bhagalpur University, Bhagalpur.

Facilities for Indological research are available in the following :—

1. Mithila Research Institute, Darbhanga.
2. Nava-Nalanda Mahavihar, Nalanda, Patna.
3. K.P. Jaiswal Research Institute, Museum Building, Patna.
4. A.N.S. Research Institute, Patna.
5. Patna University, Patna.
6. Research Institute of Prakrita, Jainology and Ahimsa, Vaishali, Muzaffarpur.

Among the important academic/commercial publishers of Sanskrit/Indological books, mention can be made of Messers Motilal Banarasidass in addition to the institutions carrying-out Indological research.

Collection of Sanskrit manuscripts/books is available in the following :—

1. Mithila Research Institute, Darbhanga.
2. Kameshwar Singh Darbhanga Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya, Darbhanga.
3. Chandradhari Museum, Darbhanga.
4. K.P. Jaiswal Research Institute, Patna.
5. Bihar Research Society Library, Patna.
6. Patna University, Patna.
7. Patna College Library, Patna.
8. Sinha Library, Patna.

9. Research Institute of Prakrita, Jainology and Ahimsa, Vaishali, Muzuffarpur.
10. Pali Research Institute, Vaishali.
11. Nava-Nalanda Mahavihar, Nalanda.

Gujarat

This State has accepted the three-language formula, as recommended by the Kothari Education Commission. Mother-tongue (regional language) is being taught in standards I to IV. Hindi and English languages are being taught from ttandard V and standard VIII respectively. There is also a provision to teach English as a voluntary subject from standard V. Sanskrit is being taught as a compulsory subject in standards VIII to X according to the syllabus. In standard XI, Sanskrit is an optional subject. For admission in the Arts College, Sanskrit at S. S. C. is made compulsory. The place of Sanskrit in the syllabus, thus, gives an incentive to the teaching of Sanskrit language. A new syllabus of Sanskrit for standards VIII to X is being prepared by the State Government.

In the old Bombay State, adequate attention was paid for the development and study of Sanskrit language. The same tradition has been continued by the Government of Gujarat. There were 26 Sanskrit pathashalas in the State at the time of the formation of Gujarat State and 856 students were studying in them. On that account an expenditure of Rs. 1,47,763 was incurred of which 48.38 percent, i. e. Rs. 74483 were borne by the state Government. At present there are about 30 Sanskrit pathsahalas in the State; and 1200 students are studying therein. On that account an expenditure of Rs. 2.39,949 was incurred, of which Rs. 1,20,334 i.e. Rs. 50.15 percent were borne by the State Government. It is obvious from this that the expenditure borne by the Government on this account at the time of inception of Gujarat State, which was 48.38 percent, has increased to 50.15 percent by now. The number of students also has increased by one and a half times. In addition to this, there is a provision to teach Sanskrit language as a subject to the students of standards VIII to XI in the secondary schools, wherever feasible. The number of candidates passing S. S. C. Examination with Sanskrit language as a subject, also comes to about 50,000. About 50 percent of students in Gujarat take Sanskrit in S. S. C. Examination.

There are Colleges offering higher education in Sanskrit for those students of the State, who desire to have higher study of and proficiency in Sanskrit language. There are two institutions for higher education in Sanskrit in the State, viz, Oriental Institute, Baroda and Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, Baroda. An expenditure of about Rs. 2,60,000 has been incurred on these institutions which are affiliated to the Baroda University. The main function of the Oriental Institute, Baroda is research and publication of important unpublished Sanskrit works. Moreover, guidance is offered to the students in M.A. and Ph.D. in the subjects of Sanskrit and Gujarati. Baroda Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya offers following four types of courses : (1) Vachaspati, (2) Uttama, (3) Madhyama and (4) Prathama.

In addition to the above two institutions, the Lalbhai Dalpatbhai Bharatiya Sanskriti Vidya Mandir, Ahmedabad, Dwarkadhish Sanskrit Vidyapeetha. Bharatiya Samshodhan Vidya Mandir, Dwarka and Sharadapeetha Indological Institute, Dwarka also conduct Indological research, and guide the research scholars for Ph.D. Degree. Both of these institutions are not affiliated to any of universities in Gujarat.

With a view to develop Sanskrit language as well as to popularize mainly the knowledge of Vedas and Upanishads, Mahamahopadhyaya Shripad Damodar Satavalekar, the great scholar of Sanskrit, started a Swadhyaya Mandal near Pardi. The Mandal has translated the Vedas in Gujarati and Hindi so as to bring them within the reach of the common masses. Besides, the Mandal also published Ramayana. The State Government also encouraged the said Mandal by a loan of Rs. 50,000 and a maintenance grant to the tune of Rs. 3,000 every year.

Traditional Sanskrit Examinations are being held by the Brihad Gujarat Sanskrit Parishad. The examinations are : Prathama, Madhyama, Bhushana, Visharada and Shastri.

'Shastri' examination is considered equivalent to B.A. examination and such students are admitted in G. B. T. C. Examinations in Sanskrit are also being held by Jamnagar Vidvat Parishad.

The State Government, in collaboration with the Central Government, gives financial assistance to the outstanding scholars of Sanskrit, whose progress is hampered due to economic conditions. As per the said scheme, the assistance is given to the learned persons (whose economic condition is poor and who have few means of livelihood), subject to a limit of Rs. 1,800 per year. The State Government, thus, renders assistance to such learned persons in scuh a way that their total annual income may come to Rs. 1,800 including their other sources of income. Under the said scheme, financial assistance was rendered by the Government to scholars as mentioned below :

Year	Number of scholars who availed of the benefit of the scheme.	Total amount of assistance.
1964-65	2	Rs. 2100.00
1965-66	2	Rs. 2100.00
1966-67	2	Rs. 2100.00
1967-68	6	Rs. 3815.00
1968-69	2	Rs. 3120.00

Haryana

Provision has been made to teach Sansktit as a third language from the 7th class in Haryana. The State Government has fixed the salaries of the Sanskrit O.T. teachers in the same grade as being awarded to the B.T. teachers in the general educational set-up. Moreover, according to the decision of the Punjab University Syndicate, the pay-scales of those Sanskrit teachers who possess the required qualifications have been futher revised upwardly. There are about 15 important traditional Sanskrit pathashalas in the State and an amount of Rs. 50,000 is provided to these pathashalas as grants-in-aid. The Government of Haryana is providing facilities for teaching of Sanskrit in four schools by appointing Sanskrit teachers under the centrally sponsored scheme of Provision of Facilities of Teaching Sanskrit in the Secondary Schools. Under another centrally sponsored scheme for Award of Scholarships to the Students of High/Higher Secondary Schools for the study of Sanskrit, 20 students are awarded scholarships for studying Sanskrit in these schools. The State Government is also considering a scheme for modernisation of Sanskrit pathashalas.

The State Government recently made an inspection of the important Sanskrit pathashalas situated in its territory. The educational, financial and the general condition of these pathashalas were found to be quite satisfactory. The Principals of all these pathashalas favoured modernisation of these pathashalas from the point of view of the syllabus as well as the system of examinations. The State Governments felt that these pathashalas need more funds for improving the pay-scales of the teachers, construction of buildings for hostels and teaching classes, purchase of books for libraries and equipment for science laboratories and for extra-curricular activities.

The Department of Sanskrit of the Kerala University is at present a purely research depertment-providing facilities for research students working for the M. Litt. and Ph. D. Degrees under the supervision of the academic staff of the Department. The subjects in which research is mainly done are the general and technical literature in Sanskrit and Indian Philosophy. Research on the diverse aspects of Kerala's contribution to Sanskrit literature is one of the principal aims kept in view by this Department.

Training Facilities for Teachers in Sanskrit :

Sanskrit teachers of the Secondary Stage are being trained at the Language Teachers' Training Centre. This training lasts for one academic year. The trainees have examinations both in theory and practice, Sanskrit teachers, who had Sanskrit as their optional for graduation, were previously given B. Ed. Training in one of the Training Colleges. At present there is no such course for Sanskrit graduates owing to paucity of trainees.

Position of Sanskrit in the Three-Language Formula :

At present pupils who enter the standard V in the upper primary stage are allowed to take Sanskrit on an optional basis under 1st Language Part-1, instead of the mother-tongue or regional language, the 1st language being split up into two parts. Part-I includes detailed, text grammar and prosody under mother tongue or regional language and Part-II deals with the non-detailed study, composition and translation. Such pupils can offer Sanskrit under 1st language Part-1, but they should study the regional language or mother tongue under Part II, as a compulsory language. A pupil who takes Sanskrit, has, therefore to take up four languages, viz. Mother tongue or Regional Language, English, Hindi and Sankrit, under this scheme. Pupils who want to go for higher studies in Sanskrit or Ayurveda also come forward for the study of this languege.

According to the present pattern of the three-language formula, which makes the study of the regional language or mother-tongue, as Ist language, English as 2nd language and Hindi as 3rd language compulsory, there is no scope for making Sanskrit as a subject of compulsory study. Pupils and parents may resent any reform introducing it as a compulsory language for study over and above the other three languages.

There is necessity to have an Officer of the status of District Educational Officer, who may be put in charge of the various functions such as conduct of courses in Sanskrit, inspection of Sanskrit education in schools, revision of curriculam and text books on Sanskrit etc.

Madhya Pradesh

In the State of Madhya pradesh, there are 8 Sanskrit Mahavidyalayas, 5 Uchcha Vidyalayas, 11 Vidyalayas and 31 pathashalas. All these institutions are run by the Government. There are also 100 voluntary Sanskrit institutions some of which are financed by the State Government. There is a budget provision of Rs.2,59,000.00 for grant of financial assistance to these institutions. All the traditional Sanskrit institutions are affiliated to Sanskrit University, Varanasi for purposes of examinations.

Facilities for teaching of Sanskrit also exist at all stages, both at the universities and colleges. Efforts are also being made by the State Government to re-organise the traditional method of teaching Sanskrit by introducing modern subjects in different classes. A number of scholarships have been instituted by the State Government for students of Sanskrit at the post-graudate, degree and higher secondary stages. The rate of scholarships is Rs. 40.00, 30.00 and 25.00 p.m. respectively. Besides this, some private agencies have also instituted a number of scholarships to encourage the study of Sanskrit. There are also a number of traditional Sanskrit institution which are being run as gurukulas. There are about 15 such institutions in the State. Some important Sanskrit institutions are also heing run by Jains and by the Vallabha Sampradaya.

Voluntary efforts are also being made to popularise Sanskrit by non-governmental agencies. On the recommendation of the Government of India, the State Government has given due recognition to various tradititional Sanskrit examinations. The State Government of Madhya Pradesh every year holds seminars for Sanskrit teachers, Sanskrit Mahotsava and other such functions to popularise Sanskrit among the people of the State. Kalidasa Samaroha is celebrated every year by the State Government with full zeal. In Mahavidyalayas, the teaching staff are being paid the same scales of pay as have been approved by the U.G.C. In other Vidyalayas, the teachers are paid the same scales of pay which are paid to the teachers of secondary schools. The State Government has also given recognition to all Sanskrit examinations conducted by different examining bodies for purposes of employment of Sanskrit teachers.

Regarding Sanskrit examinations at Prathama, Madhyama, Shastri, and Acharya levels, they are proceeding in the direction of establishing a faculty of traditional Sanskrit learning in the one of the universities in the Madhya Pradesh, preferably in Vikram University, Ujjain. A number of institutions spread all over the State are at present preparing the students for examinations conducted by Sanskrit University or other outside bodies. The standardisation of instructions to suit the requirements of the State is difficult to achieve in view of the variation in standards of these examining bodies.

The State Government propose to convert the present Institute of English Language into an Institute of Languages and the head of the institute will be Director of Traditional Sanskrit Education. This reorganisation is under consideration.

In re-organising traditional Sanskrit education under the faculty to be set up in Vikram University, the structure suggested by the Visheshajna Samiti will also be kept in view, although prima facie the proposed structure is an attempt to equate the different stages of Sanskrit education into those prevailing in general education, i,e., 5, 3, 3, 3, 2 years. This will have to be checked up whether it would be useful and desirable to aim at such separate equation.

Maharashtra

The State of Maharashtra can be conveniently divided into three regions, viz. Vidarbha, Marathwada and Western Maharashtra. Although as per new syllabus there is a common curriculum and syllabus, the Government have already propo sed to introduce a common syllabus for all the three regions and it will be implemented gradually.

In Vidarbha region Sanskrit is taught from the 5th to the 10th Standards by prescribing a composite course, viz., Sanskrit plus Hindi. Besides this, Sanskrit is taught as a regular optional subject. In the Marathwada region Sanskrit is taught as an optional subject from the 9th to the 11th standards. The facility for studying the composite course consisting of mother tongue or regional language plus Sanskrit in the Higher Secondary Schools is provided. In the Western Maharashtra, Sanskrit is taught on optional basis from the 7th to the 11th standards. At the University level, Sanskrit is taught as an optional subject only.

Although there is no provision of teaching Sanskrit on a compulsory basis, Sanskrit is taught in Western Maharashtra (Poona and Bombay Division) in 75% to 80% secondary schools. But the percentage of the schools teaching Sanskrit in Vidarbha and Marathwada regions in very low.

The Government of Maharashtra recently issued a policy statement of educational reconstruction in Maharashtra. The language policy as per this statement is as follows :

Only one language will ordinarily be studied in standards I to IV. This language will be the mother-tongue of the child and it will also be the medium of instruction at this stage. In standards V to VII of the Marathi and non-Marathi medium schools, study of the following languages would be made obligatory :-

(a) In Marathi medium Schools ;

(1) Marathi, (2) Hindi and (3) English.

(b) In non-Marathi medium Schools ;

(1) Mother-tongue. (2) Marathi (3) Hindi or English.

In the standards VIII to X of the Marathi and non-Marathi medium secondary schools the study of the following languages will be obligatory.

(a) In Marathi medium schools :-

(1) Marathi, (2) Hindi and (3) English.

(b) In non-Marathi medium schools.

(1) Mother tongue (2) Marathi (3) Hindi or English.

The policy statement issued by Government is based on the three-language formula. It will, however, be seen that there is no provision of Sanskrit teaching on compulsory basis at any stage. Efforts are, however, being made to prescribe Sanskrit in the syllabus of secondary education on optional basis.

The Maharashtra State Government has appointed a

Sanskrit Standing Committee to study the matters regarding Sanskrit and to give advice to the Department regarding Sanskrit. The members the Sanskrit Standing Committee visit and inspect of the Sanskrit pathashalas and Sanskrit Mahavidyalayas along with the officers of the Department dealing with Sanskrit. The report regarding the evaluation of the working of the pathashalas for 1970-71 is under preparation.

There are 36 recognised Sanskrit pathashalas and three Sanskrit Mahavidyalayas in Maharashtra State. Most of these Sanskrit pathashalas prepare students for the Sanskrit examinations conducted by voluntary Sanskrit organisations like Tilak Maharashtra Vidyapeetha, Poona; Swadhyaya Mandal, Pardi, etc. and for specialised Sanskrit examinations conducted by Bengal Sanskrit Association, Calcutta, and for Madhyama, Shastri and Acharya examinations conducted by the Varanaseya Sanskrit Vishwavidyalaya, Varanasi.

In order to reorganise the traditional teaching of Sanskrit with the recent trends of general education, a scheme namely Sanskrit Biased High School (Secondary Level) scheme is under consideration of the State Government and the State Board of Secondary Education.

Mysore

There are five Sanskrit colleges in the State. Among them, two are Governmental colleges, two are aided colleges and one is aided by the Muzrai Department. In these colleges, instruction is provided on traditional lines from Prathama to Vidwat Examinations. The scheme of examinations is as follows : Prathama 3 years, Kavya 2 years, Sahitya 3 years, Vidwat Madhyama 3 years and Vidwat Uttama 2 years. Public examinations are being conducted at the end of the period shown against the examinations. All the Sanskrit examinations are conducted by the Mysore Secondary Education Examination Board, a statutory body established to conduct similar examinations in the State. After Sahitya examination, specialisation is provided to select one of the following twelve Shastras : Alamkar, Vyakarna, Navina. Nyaya, Dwaita, Adwaita, Vishistadwaita, Shakti Vishistadwaita, Jaina Siddhanta Mimansa, Dharma Shastra, Jyotisha and Prachina Nyaya. After the completion of 13-year course, the candidates are conferred with the Vidwat degree.

In the above colleges, the instruction is provided upto Vidwat level. About two thousand students are studying in these colleges. Nearly 75 students take Vidwat Madhyama examination and about 50 students take Vidwat Uttama examination each year.

The teaching of Veda is also provided in these colleges from Veda Prathama to Veda Vidwat Uttama. The scheme of examinations is as follows :- Veda Prathama : 3 years, Veda Pravesha : 2 years, Veda Mula : 3 years, Veda Vidwat Madhyama : 3 years and Veda Vidwat Uttama : 2 years.

The special branches of Veda are as follows :- 1. Rigveda 2. Krishna Yajurveda, 3. Shukla Yajurveda, 4. Sama Veda and 5. Virashaiva.

Nearly 200 students are studying in the Veda Branch in these institutions. The students who have passed Sanskrit Sahitya Examinations taking English as one of the optional subjects, are treated on par with Matriculates so far as public appointments are concerned.

Vidwat Uttama is the highest examination conducted and no further provision is made for study of Vidya Varidhi or Vidya Vachaspati, etc.

Out of 2,000 High Schools in the State, provision is made to teach Sanskrit in 320 High Schools. Nearly 200 Sanskrit pandits are working on full time basis in these schools. Their pay scales are on par with graduate teachers.

Apart from the above mentioned Sanskrit colleges there are 215 Sanskrit pathashalas in the State. The number of students in such institutions is about 50,000 and about 6,500 of them take the Departmental public examination every year and the number is also increasing year after year. There are 1,050 pandits working in these pathashalas on part-time basis. Instruction is provided from Prathama to Sahitya standards (8 years course) in these pathashalas. Grants-in-aid to these pathashalas are being paid at the rate of Rs. 40 per month (Vidwan) and Rs. 250 per month (Non-Vidwan). No other financial assistance is extended to these pathashalas except the above.

However, to give a secular status as well as to modernise the Sanskrit education in the State, the Department has framed the uniform grants-in-aid code rules for all the Sanskrit institutions.

The above 215 Sanskrit pathashalas are the voluntary organisations recognised by the Department. These are preparing the candidates for several Sanskrit examinations conducted by the Department following the syllabuses and courses of studies prescribed by the Department. In addition to these recognised institutions, there are a number of mutts and temples which are propagating and spreading Sanskrit education on traditional lines.

There are 42 Veda pathashalas in the State which are under the control and supervision of the Department. These institutions are aided by the Muzrai Department through the Education Department. The number of students in these institutions is about 800, and about 200 of them take the Departmental Veda Examination which was introduced during the year 1969-70. There are 46 Veda pandits working in these pathashalas. No grant-in-aid is being paid to these pathashalas and no grant-in-aid code also is existing for these institutions.

In addition to the general secondary schools, there are five oriental high schools where special emphasis is made for the study of Sanskrit. Eight periods per week in lieu of mother tongue or regional languages are utilised for teaching of Sanskrit. These schools are located only in South Kanara district. Apart from the special study of Sanskrit, they follow the syllabuses and courses of studies provided for general High Schools and prepare the candidates for S.S L.C. Examinations each year.

At present there is no provision for teaching Sanskrit in primary schools. However, in seven primary schools, Sanskrit is taught as a compulsory subject in lieu of compulsory Hindi, following the general pattern that exists in general primary schools. In these schools, Sanskrit is introduced from 3rd standard carrying 100 marks. Apart from Sanskrit, they follow the syllabuses and courses of studies prescribed for general primary schools and prepare the candidates for common district level examinations every year.

The State Government is spending Rs. 35,000 towards the scholarships to the students in Sanskrit colleges and pathashalas. The benefit is at present extended only to 16 institutions out of 215 Sanskrit pathashalas in the State. The Government of India also provide Rs. 18,000 for giving merit scholarships to the students studying Sanskrit as a complete course in secondary schools.

To advise the Department and Government in matters relating to Sanskrit education, there is a Sanskrit Education Board with the Director of Public Instruction as Chairman and the Chief Inspector of Sanskrit Schools as the Secretary.

The State Government is spending nearly Rs. 21,00,000 towards the Sanskrit education every year. As per the revised syllabus and course of studies, Sanskrit can be studied as a complete course under first language in lieu of regional language carrying 50 marks, of 5 periods in a week. Provision is also made for study of Sanskrit as complete course along with regional or mother tongue under fitst language carrying 100+50 marks or 3+2 periods. Further provision is also made for teaching of Advance Sanskrit in oriental high schools under first language carrying 150 marks of 8 periods per week. Moreover,

Sanskrit can also be studied as a compulsory subject of study in lieu of compulsory Hindi from standards III to VII In the oriental primary schools which are only handful in number.

The State Government is agreeable to implement the Central Government's Scheme of Standardisation of Sanskrit Examinations in the pathashalas with some modifications.

Orissa

The provision for Sanskrit teaching exists in the State in two channels, viz. (I) through institutions of general education, and (ii) though the traditional type of Sanskrit institutions. Sanskrit is taught as a compulsory subject from class VI (first year of the M.E. School standard) for six years upto the end of the High School. There are 20 degree colleges offering Sanskrit as an elective subject in the degree stage under all the three Universities of the State. Utkal University alone offers teaching facilities in Sanskrit upto post-graduate stage and conducts research.

The traditional type of Sanskrit institutions provide for the following examinations:- Prathama-2 Years Madhama-4 Years, Acharya-4 Years. There are two Government aided Sanskrit Colleges providing facilities of teaching of Sanskrit upto Acharya in Kavya, Vyakarana, Sahitya, Veda, Darshana Ayuraveda ete. Besides these there are 105 voluntary Sanskrit organisations, called 'tols,' getting aid from Government, and 10 Government-managed instisutions. In many of the tols different Acharya courses are also taught.

The examinations for Prathama, Madhyama and Acharya are conducted by the Orissa Association of Sanskrit Learning and Culture. These examinations are recognised by the State Government for purpose of employment as lecturers in Sanskrit colleges as and Sanskrit pandits in Secondary Schools and Sanskrit tols (pathashalas), The Association, being an examining body, exercises control and supervision over all the Sanskrit institutions.

The Government has allotted sufficient funds for the management of the Government Sanskrit institutions and about Rs. 10.00 lakhs for giving grants-in-aid to the aided instittutions. Nearly Rs. 6.00 lakhs out of this expenditure is meant for providing scholarships and maintenance stipends to different students.

There is a rich manuscripts library in the Sadashiva Sanskrit College, Puri and another in the State Museum under the Cultural Affairs Department. Besides this, every Sanskrit institution has its own library. Leading Sanskrit journals of India are circulated in most of these institutions. As regards the position of Sanskrit in the three-language formula, Sanskrit has been kept as a compulsory subject in the middle and secondary school stages (from the sixth to the eleventh class) in this State. The three-language formula does not appear to accord any specific place to Sanskrit-the three-languages in a non-Hindi speaking area being English, the regional language and Hindi. In classes VI to VII Hindi is a compulsory subject in addition to Sanskrit. But in lieu of Hindi the three-language formula has been modified to some extent in the State. Considering the special importance of Sanskrit to the growth and development of Indian languages and its unique contribution to cultural unity of this country, it is taught as a compulsory subject throughout the Secondary stage.

In recent years the syllabus for the Prathama and Madhyama courses in Sanskrit has been modernised-where in addition to Sanskrit, some courses in Mathematics, Social Studies and other modern Indian languages also have been provided. There is no course at the moment corresponding to Praveshika course prescribed by the Central Sanskrit Board and there is a proposal to introduce the new syllabus, possibly from next year.

The following are the two institutions in the State where provision for post-graduate Sanskrit education is available:-

1. Utkal University, Bhubaneshwar.

2. Sanskrit College, Parlakhemuddi, Ganjam.

Facilities for Indological research are also available in these institutions.

Collection of Sanskrit manuscripts/books is available in the Orissa State Museum Bhubaneshwar and Sadasiva Sanskrit College, Puri, besides the Sanskrit College, Ganjam and the Utkal University Library.

Punjab

Sanskrit is not compulsory at any stage in Punjab. Under the three-language formula also Punjabi, Hindi and English are available in that order of preference. Sanskrit is only an optional subject at the middle stage. There are 9 traditional pathashalas in the State which have a total budget of Rs. 25,000 for the purpose. The State Government did not consider it necessary to create a Directorate of Sanskrit Education in the State. During 1970, against a total of about 14 lakhs students, only 1.8 lakhs appeared with Sanskrit at the middle level ; against 73143 only 2077 at matriculate level and against 70760 only 18000 at higher secondary level.

As Sanskrit is not a spoken language, the State Government does not consider it necessary to set up a Directorate for it.

The following are the names of institutions in the State where provision for post-graduate Sanskrit education is available :

1. Department of Sanskrit, Panjabi University, Patiala.
2. Vishveshvaranand Institute of Sanskrit and Idological studies, Panjab University, Sadhu Ashram, Hoshiarpur.
3. Vishveshvaranand Vedic Research Institute, Sadhu Ashram, Hoshiarpur.

Facilities for Indological research are also available in these institution.

The Vishveshvaranand Institute of Sanskrit and Indological Studies, Hoshiarpur, and the Vishveshvaranand Vedic Research Institute, Hoshiarpur also publish Sanskrit/Indological books and they also possess a good collection of Sanskrit manuscripts/books.

Names of some other important Sanskrit institutions in the State are being given below :

1. Multani Mal Modi Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, Lahel, Patiala.
2. Govt. Institute, for Oriental and Modern Indian Languages, Sirhinni Bazar, Patiala.
3. Govt. Sanskrit College, Nabha.

Rajasthan

Rajasthan has been a centre of Sanskrit learning for centuries. We come across extensive patronage to Sanskrit from the 14th century onwards by the various erstwhile princely states. Particularly Jaipur has been one of the most important centres coming next only to Varanasi in India. Here not only the Princes, but on the Sekhawati side, the wealthy seths and sahukars also patronised Sanskrit.

At the time of integration, there were small pathashalas all over the State. They were neither adequately equipped with teaching staff nor with other teaching aids and appliances. There were also no modern sujects in the syllabi of Sanskrit education. There were pathashalas where only one teacher used to teach from Praveshika to Acharya. While some of the major states like Jaipur, Jodhpur, Udaipur etc., were having good Sanskrit Colleges, in other small regions the pathashalas were run with one or two pandits only.

When it was felt that the number of students was dwindling and the syllabi of various Sanskrit examinations were out of tune with the needs of society, a Committee was appointed to make recommendations for the revision of the syllabi. Modern subjects were introduced on the recommendation of this committee upto Purva Praveshika standard i.e. class VIII.

Prior to the merger, all the Sanskrit pathashalas were under the direct control of District Inspector of Schools like other institutions in the General Education Department-except Jaipur State where there was a post of Supervisor to look after these Sanskrit pathashalas. As such these Sanskrit institutions were not getting due patronage and attention that they deserved. On account of this, the need for a separate Inspectorate for Sanskrit institutions was felt at the time of merger. It was only afrer merger that the Government created a post of Inspector of Sanskrit Pathashalas and except two post-graduate colleges at Jaipur and Alwar, all Government-aided and recognised Sanskrit colleges and pathashalas were put under his charge. However this Inspectorate too continued to be under the administrative control of the General Education Department.

After the creation of this Inspectorate it was again felt that the syllabus of the Sanskrit examinations should be revised further, and again a committee consisting of eminent Sanskrit scholars was appointed by the Government to go into the question. The Committee which was appointed in the year 1949 was mainly concerned with the question of the syllabus upto Purva-Praveshika, while this Committee was entrusted with the work of Higher Examinations. The result was the 'Niyamavali of 1954'. In this Niyamavali the study courses and syllabi of Sanskrit education were so adopted that teaching of modern subjects formed an integral part of Sanskrit study and consequently students reading in the Sanskrit institutions were not deprived of the benefit of modern subjects and were put to any disadvantage in the matter of employment etc., in comparison to those studying in general educational institutions.

In order to encourage and popularise the Sanskrit Education in Rajasthan, the Government of Rajasthan appointed a Sanskrit Committee consisting of eminent Sanskrit scholars in 1955. The Committee in its report made several important recommendations in this behalf, one of them being a separate Department for Sanskrit Education.

Accepting this recommendation, the State Government set up a separate Directorate of Sanskrit Education exclusively in charge of all Sanskrit institutions in the state in the year 1958 in order to implement the other Recommendation of the Committee, effectivily. Indeed, Rajasthan is the first state to create an independent Department for promotion of Sanskrit learning in the country. The present set-up of the department is as follows :—

1.	Director	1
2.	Asstt. Director	1
3.	Inspector	1
4.	Deputy Inspectors	2
5.	Sub-Deputy Inspector	1
6.	Asstt. Accounts Officer	1
7.	Other Staff.

Until the establishment of separate Directorate, there was no categorisasion of Sanskrit institutions and most of the institutions were preparing students from Praveshika to Acharya examinations with the help of one or two traditional type of pandits. As a matter of policy the State Government has categorised all Sanskrit institutions on the basis of equivalence as shown against them below :

1.	Acharya Colleges	Post-Graduate Colleges
2.	Shastri Colleges	Degree Colleges.
3.	Upadhyaya Colleges	Intermediate Colleges.
4.	Praveshika Pathashalas	High Schools.
5.	Purva-Praveshika Pathashalas	Middle Schools.

Equivalence of Sanskrit Examinations :

One of the main causes for the decreasing number of students in Sanskrit institutions was the lack of sources of suitable employment. Therefore, to open up avenues of employment further, the State Government has made persons with such Sanskrit qualifications eligible for appointment in various State services. As such the Government have recognised the Praveshika, Madhyama Upadhyaya, Shastri and Acharya examinations with English and other subjects (according to the revised curriculum prescribed in 1954) as equivalent to High School, Intermediate, B. A. and M. A. examinations respectively for the purposes of appointment under the Rajasthan Government.

Modernisation of Sanskrit Institutions :

As already stated, in the year 1949, it was felt that number of students reading in Sanskrit pathashalas was dwindling and the syllabi of various examinations were out of tune with the needs of the society. A committee was appointed to revise the syllabus of Purva Praveshika Examination, Accordingly modern subjects like Mathematics, English, General Science, Soclal Studies etc., were introduced in the syllabus on the recommendation of the committee up to 8th Class, i.e. Purva Praveshika. Again in the year 1954, the syllabi of Praveshika, Upadhyaya and Shastri examinations were revised on the recommendation of the committee of Sanskrit scholars appointed by the Government. Present Niyamavali (courses of study) and the syllabi of higher examinations have been so adopted that the teaching of modern subjects forms integral part of Sanskrit studies. Students studying in Sanskrit institutions are not deprived of the benefit of the modern subjects and are not put to disadvantage in the matter of employment etc. in comparison with the students of general education. Modern subjects have thus become intergral part of the Sanskrit syllabus. As such in Rajasthan all the Sanskrit institntions upto Shastri standard now stand modernised. However, the option for traditional type of learning continues in higher examinations. Modern subjects are compulsory up to Praveshika (High School) only. Here English is also one of the optional subjects which is not compulsory for a pass.

Praveshika and Upadhyaya examinations are being conduced by the Board of Secondary Education in the State. The Board allows candidates having passed the Praveshika examination to be admitted to the last-year of the Higher Secondary course in any of the higher secondary schools of the State. The number of students in Pravashika and Upadhyaya examinations has been increasing tremendously and the number of examinees during the year 72-73 is expected to near the figure of 3,00.

Till now, higher examinations of Sanskrit, i.e. of Shastri/Acharya and Shiksha Shastri were being conducted by the Education Department. The State Government gave a serious throught to this aspect also. Earlier the question of establihing a saparate Sanskrit University was under consideration but this could not be finalised due to several reasons. In the year 1970-71 a separate Oriental Faculty was establshed in the University of Rajasthan. Now Shastri, Shiksha Shastri and Acharya examinations are being held by the University The institutions of Sanskrit running these courses have been provisionally affiliated to the University. This step will go a long way in the propagation and development of Sanskrit education in the state.

Training of Teachers :

Teachers working in Sanskrit pathshalas/colleges and having modern subjects are given professional training in general training institutions of the State. Teachers with the qualification of Praveshika/Upadhyaya with English as one of the subjects are deputed for Basic S.T.C. Training and the teachers having Sanskrit qualifications of Shastri and Acharya are deputed for 'Shiksha-Shastri' training. State Government has started its own 'Shiksha-Shastri examination under the University of Rajasthan. So far about 400 teachers have been trianed and every Sanskrit institution is having two or three trained Shastri/Acharya teachers.

Sanskrit Research :

With a view to encourage research work and to create interest in literary activites, the State Government has given effect to a scheme of giving financial assistance and awards every year to Sanskrit scholars, in the forms of (i) Creative Allowance @ Rs. 100 p. m. (ii) Subsistance Allowance @ Rs. 100 p. m. and (iii) Merit Award ranging between Rs. 2000 to Rs. 3000 apart from the assistance being given by the Government of India.

Under these schemes allowances mentioned at number (ii) and (iii) are provided for the bonafide residents of Rajasthan only. The Scheme was approved by the Government in the year 1960 and so far about 22 eminent Sanskrit scholars have been awarded various grants. Under the above schemes two scholars, Sarvashri Yudhishthir 'Mimansak', and Dr. Chhagan Lal Shastri were awarded research scholarships for a period of two years each. The work of Shri Yudhishthir Minansak, namely "Madhyandina Padapatha" has already been published and is a Vedic study of lasting and widely recognisable merit. Similarly Dr. Chhagan Lal has completed his work namely 'Jain Yoga Sahitya in Sanskrit Literature.' This is a good historical and comparative study of Yoga as given in Jain Agama and other granthas. The work is complete and is at the final stage.

Scholarships are also being awarded to Sanskrit students studying in Sanskrit pathashalas and colleges @ Rs. 20 p.m. to students of Acharya classes @ Rs. 15 p.m. to students of Shastri classes, @ Rs. 10 per month to students of Madhyama classes and @Rs. 5 p.m. to students of Praveshika classes. In Sanskrit College, Udaipur, lodging and boarding are free for those students who are residing in the hostels. The amount of scholarships granted during the year 70-71 was Rs. 28,000 and Rs. 33,000 for merit holders and scheduled castes and scheduled tribes respectively.

Budget

Regular grants-in-aid are being paid to 56 Sanskrit institutions every month. Total expenditure during the year 70-71 was of Rs. 10.29 lakhs under non-Plan and Rs. 0.42 lakhs under the Plan Budget.

The state Government incur an annual expenditure of about Rs. 39.00 lakhs on Sanskrit education. Budget estimates for the year 1671-72 and 72-73 are as follows:-

	Non-Plan (in lakhs) B.E.71-72	B.E. 72-73
1. University Colleges	8.51	9.69
2. Secondary Pathashalas	15.08	14.48

3.	Aid to non-Govt. Sanskrit institutions.	9.40	13.20
3.	Scholarships to the students of Sanskrit Colleges and Pathashalas	0.25	0.25
4.	General	2.04	2.17
6.	Encouragement for Sanskrit literature.	0.06	0.08
	Total	35.34	39.87

It was only during the Third Five Year Plan that Government provided an amount of 5.00 lakhs for the propagation of Sanskrit education. It is gratifying to note that satisfactory progress has now been made in the field of Sanskrit education for its preservation and propagation particularly during the plan period.

As an instance of this progress, mentioned may be made of the increase in the number of students in Sanskrit pathashalas from 9140 in the year 1958-60 to about 21000 in the year 1970-71.

In the Fourth Five Year Plan, there is a total outlay or Rs. 15 50 lakhs apart from non-Plan Budget. This amount is being utilised for the various schemes as follows:-

S.No.	Programme.	Fourth Plan Outlay	B.E. for the year 71.72	Proposed ceiling for the year 72-73
			(Rs. in lakhs)
1.	Supplementation of staff in existing Govt. Sanskrit (Acharya & Shastri) Colleges, Upadhyaya Colleges and Pathashalas.	2.30 5.40	0.38 1.12	0.76 1.62
2.	Opening of new subjects.	0.45	0.13	0.09
3.	Sports and Tournaments.	0.20	0.04	0.08
4.	Opening of Hostels.	0.17	0.04	0.05
5.	Grants-in-aid to non-Govt. Institutions.	1.30	0.44	1.20
6.	Strengthening of administrative set-up.	0.88	019	0.20

7.	Sanskrit elocution contests.	0.25	0.03	0.03
8.	Sanskrit Faculty in the Rajasthan University.	1.70	0.32	0.32
9.	Constructions and repairs the Govt. Buildings.	2.85	0.31	—
	Total	15.50	3.00	4.35

Thus during the year 72-73 the State Govt. shall be incurring an expenditure of about Rs. 44.22 lakhs (Plan and non-Plan both) on Sanskrit education in the state.

In fact after the formation of this separate Directorate and particularly in the Third and Fourth Five Year Plan, rapid progress has been made in the field of Sanskrit education. The main emphasis has been to improve the quality in the Sanskrit education rather than the quantity. Rajasthan is the first State which has taken steps to modernise the society. As already stated, a number of changes has been made in the syllabi and the institutions have been strengthened with staff and equipment according to the conditions of the University and Board. New subjects like Hindi Typing and Short-hand have been introduced. The progress during two decades can easily be seen by the following table :—

Item	1950-51	1968-69	1971-72
1. Number of Institutions	96	127	140
2. Enrolment of students	2216	20481	22000
3. Budget (for Govt. and aided Institutions) (in lakhs of Rs.)	1.50	25.56	38.00

The total expenditure exclusively on Sanskrit pathashalas and colleges in the year 1950 and 1967 was Rs. 1.59 and 21.55 lakhs respectively, which in the year 1971-72 is about Rs. 38.00 lakhs.

The number of Sanskrit institutions in the State is as follows :—

Standard	Govt.	Aided	Recognised	Total
1. Acharya Colleges (post-graduate)	3	10	1	14
2. Shastri Colleges (Degree Colleges)	5	5	1	11
3. Upadhyaya Colleges (Intermediate)	5	14	3	22
4. Praveshika Pathashalas (High Schools)	29	14	1	44
5. Purva Praveshika Pathashalas (Middle Schools)	1	12	35	48
6. Hostel	—	1	—	1
Total	43	56	41	140

The total number of students studying in Govt. and recognised Sanskrit institutions during 71-72 is about 22, 552 as compared to 2216 in 1950-51. The total number of girls now studying in these Sanskrit institutions is about 3,500 against 20 in 1950-51. The number of scheduled castes/scheduled tribes and backward classes, students studying in these institutions is about 2,000 including girls. It would be evident that the Sanskrit education is entirely of a secular character and free in the State.

Institution—wise figures (1969-70)

Sl. No.	Standard	Government		Aided		Recognised
		Boys	Girls	Boys	Girls	Boys	Girls
1.	Acharya & Shastri	1631	124	2157	294	48	—
2.	Upadhyaya	1182	74	1570	365	175	18
3.	Praveshika and Purva Praveshika	4292	459	3252	1087	2584	1169
	Total	7105	657	6979	1746	2807	1187

The number of students belonging to the scheduled castes & tribes was 1932 boys and 143 girls.

Sanskrit institutions in the State also observe Jayanties of Magha, Kalidasa, Bharavi etc. apart from those extra-curicular activities which are prescribed for other Institutions also. In December, 1961 for the first time, a State level tournament of Sanskrit institutions exclusively was reorganised which was inaugurated by Shri Ananta Shayanam Ayyangar, the then speaker of Lok Sabha and the prize distribution was done by Late Shri B.N. Datar, the then Minister for Home Affairs. Since then this activity has become a permanent feature. 'Sanskrit Divasa' has also become a prominent day in these activities.

Uttar Pradesh

The number of Sanskrit pathashalas in U.P. is 900, among which 348 are recognised up to Shastri and Acharya level. The number of pathashalas recognised up to Prathama and Madhyama is 552. The number of teachers employed in the pathashalas is about 5,000 and about 50,000 students receive education in these pathashalas. The U.P. Government had launched a scheme of classification of the mahavidyalayas (i.e. pathashalas recognised upto Shastri and Acharya level) in 1962. Under the scheme, the pathashalas classified in category 'A' number 48. The number of pathashalas under category 'B' is 64. The scales of pay sanctioned to the teachers in these pathashalas is as under :—

Category 'A'
Pradhanacharya	Rs. 250-850
Head of the Department	Rs. 250-500
Asstt. Professor	Rs. 150-350
Instructor	Rs. 75-200
Category 'B'
Pradhancarya	Rs. 250-500
Sahayak Adhyapaka	Rs. 120-300
Instructor	Rs. 75-200

Pathashalas recognised for Shastri and Acharya and sending 15 candidates for these two examinations of Sanskrit University, Varanasi for three years are placed in category 'A' and such pathashalas sending candidates fore three years from Prathama to Acharya are placed in category 'B'. The State Government spends nearly 10 lakhs annually for different schemes of Sanskrit. Besides, the State Government has taken over two Sanskrit pathashalas of erstwhile Banaras State and Sanskrit pathashalas of erstwhile Tehri State. There is one Government Sanskrit Pathashala attached to the Government Inter College, Mirzapur.

Besides, the State Government have a number of future programmes for encouraging the studies of Sanskrit such as reservation of seats in Government service for Sanskrit students, teaching of modern subjects in Sanskrit pathashalas, revision of pay-scales of Sanskrit teachers, establishment of a separate Directorate for Sanskrit Education.

In the State, Sanskrit is being taught as one of the Indian languages under the Three-Language Formula. Apart from this, the courses of compulsory Hindi prescribed for secondary classes also include lessons in Sanskrit. Sanskrit has been made a compulsory subject of study in the composite course of Hindi from the sixth to the seventh classes.

West Bengal

Provision for Post-Graduate Sanskrit Education in West Bengal is available in the following institutions:—

(a) The University of Calcutta—This is the only institution where there are sufficient arrangements for teaching of Sanskrit at the post-graduate level for 14 groups covering Kavya, Vedas, Mimansa, Vedanta, Samkhyayoga, Nyayavaisheshika, General Philosophy, Prakrit, Epigraphy, Vaishnavism, Smriti, Jainism, Shaivism and Tantricism.

(b) University of Jadavpur—Here also there is opportunity of studying Sanskrit at the post-graduate level with specialisation in Kavya, Smriti, Vedanta. Nyaya and Buddhist Logic.

(c) Rabindra Bharati University—Sanskrit at the post-graduate level is taught in the specialised groups like Kavya, Vyakarana and Darshana.

(d) University of Burdwan—Specialised groups in Kavya, Veda, Darshana and Mimansa.

(e) The Government Sanskrit College, Calcutta—has provision for teaching Sanskrit at the post-graduate level in the following groups, viz., Vaishnavism, Shaivism and Jainism.

Indology is a subject which covers a wide range and the term is applied generally for Sanskrit and its allied subjects covering Pali, Prakrit, Ancient Indian History and the like. Research work in Sanskrit is carried out significantly in the University of Calcutta. The Ashuthosh Sanskrit Series, Calcutta, has to its credit several distinguished publications, so far as Indological Research is concerned, it may be stated with reference to Pali that the University of Calcutta has a distinguished department where constant valuable research works are going on. Special reference in this context may be made of the Pali Department of the Sanskrit College, Calcutta where the Royal Danish Academy, Copenhagen, has with the collaboration of the Government of India, established the Indian Centre for Compiling a Critical Pali Dictionary. This Centre at Sanskrit College has started work since 1967 and significant progress of work in this international project has already been made. The Nalanda Vidyabhavan is an independent organisation of the Bengal Buddhists, where Pali is studied at higher levels in the orthodox pattern.

The Sanskrit College, Calcutta, has a Department of Post-Graduate Training and Research where there is provision for carrying out and guiding research works in the branches of Vedas, Smriti-Purana, Indian Logic, Literature (Kavya) and Indology. The publications of this Research Department have already crossed the number fifty.

The University of Calcutta has a Centre of Advanced Studies in Ancient Indian History and Culture. Several Research Scholars and Fellows are working in that centre for the compilation of the Encyclopaedia on the terms of Geography and Arts.

The Sanskrit Sahitya Parishad has undertaken a very promising project of re-editing the Tattvachintamani of Gangesh Upadhyaya. The Parishad has a distinguished career of service to the cause of Sanskrit learning. The Asiatic Society of Bengal is the oldest institution where research on Indological subjects, specially Sanskrit and Buddhist Studies, is carried out systematically and scientifically.

Arrangement for teaching Sanskrit in the traditional way is also made in the Sanskrit Sahitya Parishad, and throughout West Bengal there are some pathashalas where traditional Sanskrit education is imparted.

Besides the Universities and colleges mentioned above, there is also a Sanskrit Education Board in this State under the name and style of 'Bangiya Sanskrit Siksha Parishad'. This parishad functions under the patronage of the State Government. It conducts Adya, Madhya, Upadhi, etc, examinations in Sanskrit and also grants recognition and sanctions grants-in-aid to the Sanskrit tols & pathashalas which impart traditional Sanskrit education.

The following are the names of institutions in the State where provision for post-graduate Sanskrit education is available :—

Andaman and Nicobar

There is no Sanskrit pathashala/college in this Territory and hence no Sanskrit examination is being conducted and there is no need for a separate Directorate for Sanskrit Education. However, Sanskrit is being taught as a third language in the middle schools and as an elective subject in the higher secondary classes.

Chandigarh

There is only one Sanskrit institution, i. e. Sanatan Dharma Hindi Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya and there a| re five degree colleges which offer Sanskrit as elective subject

The number of students taking Sanskrit in the Chandigarh Union Territory is 2362. There is only one pathashala recognised by the Government and the University. A scholarship of Rs. 10 has been introduced and details of modernisation of Sanskrit education are being finalised.

There is no objection to the standardization of various Sanskrit examinations but this decision shall have to be taken at the level of Inter-Examination Board/Inter University level. There is no necessity of setting up a separate Sanskrit Directorate.

Sanskrit is not being taught in any of the schools in Chandigarh under the three-language formula. It is being taught as classical language from the sixth class onward. It is provided as an option to Drawing, Agriculture, Needle work and Music at the middle classes. It is taught as an elective subject at the high/higher secondary stage and as an optional and elective subject at the college level.

Dadra and Nagar Haveli

High school education starts from the seventh class and completes at 11th standards. Sanskrit is one of the subjects in 7th, 9th and 10th classes. Selected students offer Sanskrit as one of the optional subject in S. S. C. (in 9th to 11th classes).

No traditional type of Sanskrit examinations are held in this Union Territory. As this is a small Union Territory, it is not considered worthwhile to set up a separate Directorate for Sanskrit.

Delhi

There are 14 recognised traditional type of Sanskrit institutions in Delhi out of which ten receive grants-in-aid from Delhi Administration. Out of these ten the following three are recognised as Mahavidyalayas :

(i) Shri Vishvanath Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya.
(ii) Shri Samanta Bhadra Sanskrit Vidyalaya.
(iii) Kanya Gurukul, Narela.

A total ad-hoc grant of Rs. 85,000 was paid last year to these pathashalas by the Admintstration. Sanskrit has been made compulsory from the sixth to the eight standards from this year. There are 450 higher secondary schools add 450 middle schools of Delhi and provision of teaching Sanskrit exists in all these schools. Among 10 traditional Sanskrit pathashalas one is purely for girls where 109 girl students are studying. The Government is considering a proposal to extend grant up to 95% of the total expenditure to these pathashalas. Sanskrit is optional in the Higher Secondary classes. Every student appearing at the Higher Secondary stage examination is supposed to study three languages and Sanskrit can be one of these three languages offered by the students. The language given first position will continue up to XI, the 2nd up to Xth and 3rd up to class VI to VIII of the recognised schools.

The existing pay-scales excluding other allowances, in the reconised colleges and schools in the modern educational set-up in the State are given below :—

S. No.	Category	Colleges	Schools
1.	Principal	1100—1600	700—1100
2.	Reader	700—1250	— —
3.	Lecturer	400— 900	300—600
4.	Teacher	— —	220—500
5.	Asstt. Teacher	— —	135—320

The following are the names of Institutions in the State where provision for post-graduate Sanskrit education is on traditional lines is available :—

1. Lal Bahadur Shastri Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha, Shakti Nagar, Delhi.
2. Vishwanatha Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, Bela Road, Delhi.
3. Vishwa Vidya Pratishthan, Kirti Nagar, New Delhi.
4. Samant Bhadra Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, Darya Ganj, Delhi.

Facilities for Indological research are available besides the Lal Bahadur Shastri Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeetha, in the Bharatiya Vidya Sansthan, Darya Ganj, also.

Among the important academic/commercial publishers of Sanskrit/Indological books mention can be made of M/s. Moti Lal Banarsi Dass, Jawahar Nagar, M/s. Mehar Chand Laxman Dass, Rani Jhansi Road and M/s Munshi Ram Manohar Lal, Nai Sarak, Delhi.

Names of some important Sanskrit institutions in the State are being given below :—

1. Vishwa Nath Sanskrit Mahavidyalya, Bela Road.
2. Sanskrit Mahavidyala, Arya Gurukul, Tatesar Jaunti.
3. Shrimad Dayanand Arsh Gurukul, Khera Khurd.

4. Shri Ramdal Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, Dariba Kalan.
5. Shri Moti Nath Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, Ramesh Nagar.
6. Shri Sanatan Dharma Sabha Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, Purvi Patel Nagar.
7. Shri Ram Rishi Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, Karala.
8. Shri Samant Bhadra Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, Darya Ganj.
9. Bharati Rishikul Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya, Bakoli, Alipur.
10. Kanya Gurukul Sanskrit Vidyalaya, Narela.

Besides the institutions mentioned above, the Department of Sanskrit, University of Delhi has the provision of research in Sanskrit/Indological subjects. At present 240 research students are working on various aspects of Sanskrit studies. There are 15 affiliated/constituent colleges of the university, where the facilities for post-graduate courses in Sanskrit are available. Among the affiliated/constituent colleges of the university, 45 have the facilities for teaching Sanskrit in B.A. Pass course. 15 of these colleges have the provision for teaching Sanskrit in B.A. Honours. course also.

The Department of Buddhist Studies, University of Delhi also provides the facilities for carrying out research work in Sanskrit/Indological subjects in addition to the Buddhist Philosophy.

Goa, Daman and Diu

There are at present 6 voluntary Sanskrit organisations engaged in the promotion, propagation and development of Sanskrit language in this Territory. They are as under :—

(1) Shri Vedashastra Samvardhak Mandal, Ambedam, Sattari, Goa.
(2) Gomantak Sanskritottejak Mandal Shankar Pathashala, Kavlem, Ponda, Goa.
(3) Gomantak Sanskrit Parishad, Keri, Mardo, Goa:
(4) Sanskrit Pracharini Sabha, Margao.
(5) Sanskrit Pathashala, Canacona.
(6) Geeta Dharma Mandal, Assagao, Bardez.

There are no Sanskrit Mahavidyalayas (Colleges) of the traditional type as such in Goa. The existing Sanskrit pathashalas may, however, be considered as Vidyalayas (Secondary Schools).

It may be stated that Sanskrit is also being taught in some of the high schools and colleges in this Territory. However, the main aims and objectives of the above mentioned voluntary organisations are to achieve, protect and propagate Sanskrit teaching and the study of Vedas and ancient Dharmashastras, to impart teaching of Kavya, Vyakarana and Astrology and acquaint the Society with the exact knowledge of Philosophy and the Principles of Vedic Religion, to conduct examinations in the studies of Sanskrit, Vedas and ancient Aryan lores and confer diplomas or degrees or award certificates or prizes in them, to establish and maintain libraries and reading rooms, goshalas etc., to do research work on Sanskrit manuscripts, to publish Sanskrit books which are out-of-print and to translate valuable Sanskrit books into modern Indian languages and to arrange cultural programmes in Sanskrit such as dramas lectures etc.

Although the above Sanskrit pathashalas are recognised by the local Govt. for purpose of grant, the modern educational set-up has not yet been introduced in them. Hence the question of pay-scales of teachers serving in Sanskrit pathashalas does not arise. It may be noted, however, that the pay-scale of Sanskrit teachers serving in High Schools is the same as that of other teachers as per the equivalent qualifications. As regards colleges, the teachers draw the salaries prescribed by the University of Bombay.

It may be stated here that the Sanskrit pathashalas in this Territory are given financial help by the local Govt. to the extent of 50% of the maintenance expenditure incurred during the previous year including the pay-scales of the teachers fixed by the respective organisation and stipend to the residential type of Sanskrit students at the rate of Rs. 10 per student per month. This is in conformity with the pattern of assistance approved by the Govt. of India. It may be noted, however, that in view of the present high cost of living and in comparison with the 'stipend paid to Sanskrit students in the State of Maharashtra, it is proposed to the Govt. of India to increase the stipend to Sanskrit students, so that they may be attracted to the traditional type of Sanskrit pathashalas. It is learnt that the above proposal is under consideration of the Govt. of India.

Besides the local Government's assistance, the Sanskrit pathashalas are also receiving Ceneral Government's grant under the scheme of 'Assistance to Voluntary Sanskrit Organisations/Institutions and Pathashalas for Promotion of Sanskrit' every year.

Finally it may be concluded that in the existing set-up of Sanskrit education in this Territory there is, at present no need of having a separate Directorate for Sanskrit education in this Territory. The local Government, however, have considered a proposal of appointing an Officer in the grade of Rs. 325-575 under Social Education Section of the Directorate of Education to look after the work of promotion and propagation of Sanskrit as well as Hindi in conformity with the recommendation made by the Hindi Shiksha Samiti of the Govt. of India to appoint a Special Officer for Hindi in non-Hindi speaking areas.

The following are the names of institutions in the State where provision for post-graduate Sanskrit education is available :—

1. Gomantak Sanskrit Pracharini Sabha, Margao, Goa.
2. Gomantak Sanskritottejak Mandal's Sanskrit Pathashala, Kavalem Ponda, Goa.

Facilities for Indological research are available besides the Gomantak Sanskritottejak Mandal's Shankar Pathashala, Kavalem Ponda, Goa in the Gamantak Sanskrit Parishad, Keri Post, Mandal, Goa also.

The Gomantak Sanskritottejak Mandal's Shankar Pathashala, Portagal Swami's Library, Portagal, Goa and Gomantak Sanskrit Parishad, Keri have a good collection of Sanskrit manuscripts/books.

Names of some important Sanskrit institutions in the State are being given below :—

1. Shri Vedashastra Samvardhak Mandal, Ambedem, Sattari.
2. Gomantak Sanskritottejak Mandal's Shankar, Pathashala, Kavlem.

3. Gomantak Sanskrit Parishad, Mardol, Keri.
4. Geeta Dharma Mandal, Assagao, Bardez.
5. Gomantak Sanskrit Pracharini Sabha, Margao.
6. Sanskrit Pathashala, Canacona.
7. Veda Shastra Pathashala, Dhavem, Post Valpai, Goa.

Laccadive and Minicoy

Sanskrit has been introduced as a third language (language at a lower level) in higher secondary schools from the academic year 1970-71. At present there is a little scope for introducing Sanskrit in other schools in this Union Territory. People of this Union Territory are all Muslims classified as Scheduled Tribes. Many of them prefer to learn Arabic instead of Sanskrit. The scope for introducing Sanskrit, is, therefore, limited. The Administration is following the syllabi, course of studies and text books prescribed by the Board of Secondary Education, Kerala/Central Board of Secondary Education, New Delhi and are presenting their students for the public examinations conducted by the above boards. There does not appear to be any scope for setting up a separate Directorate for Sanskrit in this Union Territory.

Names of some important Sanskrit institutions in the State are being given below :—

1. Government Sanskrit Tol, Imphal.
2. Canchipur Sanskrit Vidyalaya, Imphal·
3. Thoubal Sanskrit Vidyalaya, Imphal.
4. Khangabok Sanskrit Vidyalaya, Imphal.
5. Jairipok Sanskrit Vidyalaya, Imphal.
6. Satsang Sanskrit Vidyalaya, Nambol.
7. Jnanada Sanskrit Vidyalaya, Singjamie.

Nagaland

Sanskrit has not been introduced in this state so far.

NEFA

Sanskrit has not yet been introduced as a subject in the schools of NEFA as the students of NFFA have to learn three languages, viz., Assamese, Hindi and English.

It is proposed to introduce Sanskrit as optional subject in class VII onward.

As per the revised syllabus and cources of studies, Sanskrit can be studied as follows:

1. As a complete course under first language in lieu of regional language carrying 150 marks, of 5 periods in a week.
2. Provision is also made for study of Sanskrit as composite course along with regional language or mother tongue under first language carryiug 100 plus 50 marks of 3 plus 2 periods.
3. Further provision is also made for teaching of advance Sanskrit in oriental high schools under first language carrying 150 marks of 8 periods per week.
4. Sanskrit can also be studied as a compulsory subject of study in lieu of compulsory Hindi from standards III to VII in the oriental primary schools which are only handful in number.

However, steps have been taken to popularise Sanskrit among the students and to acquaint the people with this great language.

In order to popularise learning of Sanskrit, NEFA has been celebrating the Sanskrit Day all over the region since 1969 with great enthusiasm. On these occassions meetings are held in all the high and higher secondary schools and the necessity of learning Sanskrit is explained to the students. They are told that as all the modern Indian language owe their origin to Sanskrit it is essential to learn Sanskrit to achieve proficiency in any modern Indian language. The students are also acquainted with the richness of the Sanskrit literature, its great influence on the social and cultural heritage of the Indian people and its great unifying effect on them. The lives and works of the great Sanskrit scholars of the past are discussed and verses and pieces from Sanskrit dramas are recited. Public meetings are held in the District and Sub-Divisional Headquarters on the occassion of the celebration of the Day and the parents and guardians, apart from the students, are also acquainted about the richness of the Sanskrit language and the necessity of learning it.

From the 1972 school session the Government are going to follow the text books and syllabus prescribed by the Kendriya Vidyalaya Sangathan in all the schools of NEFA. Sanskrit being a compulsory subject in the said syllabus from the Middle stage onward, it is going to be introduced in the schools as a subject.

Pondicherry

Sanskrit is not taught as a subject in any of the schools in this Territory.

Sansktit is not taught in any of the schools and so there is no question of standardization of examinations and/or establishing a separate Directorate for Sanskrit.

Sanskrit is not taught as one of the subjects in any school. There is no question of fitting it in the language pattern of the Territory

The following are the names of institutions in the State where provision for post-graduate Sanskrit education is available:

1. Institute Francais d' Indologie Pondicherry.
2. Ecole Fancais d' Extreme Ocirnt, Ponddicherry.

These two institutions, along with the Shri Aurobindo Society, are among the important academic/commercial publishers of Sanskrit/Indological books.

Tripura

There are 35 Sanskrit tols and chatuspathis running with Grants-in-aid from the Government. There is also one Government Sanskrit College at Agartala. imparting education upto degree level. A sum of Rs. 20,100 was sanctioned in favour of these tols during 1970-71. A scheme 'Promotion of Sanskrit' with an outlay of Rs. 0.50 lakh has been included in the Fourth Plan. The object of the scheme is to provide staff and equipments to the Tripura Sanskrit Vidyabhavan (a college run by the Government).

An independent pattern in the matter is not possible as the Sanskrit tols and Sanskrit Vidyabhavan in Tripura are associated with the West Bengal Sanskrit Association. This is too small a Territory for opening a separate Directorate for Sanskrit.

The pattern regarding the three-language formula in Tripura is the teaching of regional lauguage/mother tongue, English and Hindi / Sanskrit. Hindi is compulsorily studied in classes VI and VII and Sanskrit in class VIII and is continued in higher secondary classes as compulsory subject for the students in humanities group.

The language pattern is the same as adopted in West Bengal. The pattern is regional language/mother tongue, English and Hindi/Sanskrit. Sanskrit is compulsory in class VIII and continued in higher classes as such for students in humanities group. Any change made for West Bengal will cover this Territory too.

Names of some important Sanskrit institutions in Tripura are being given below :

1. Purnalaxmi Chatuspathi.
2. Bhagaban Chatuspathi.
3. Kali Chatuspathi.
3. Taruni Chatuspathi.
